

THIRTIETH YEAR

LANCASTER, KY., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, APRIL 3, 1919.

NUMBER 1.

Cracks At Creation.

Germany's Bill will cost her forty billion dollars.

Serious President Wilson must appear anomaly in gay Parce.

A gathering of women in their new spring hats looks like a flower garden.

The horse is disappearing so fast that it is doubtful whether there will be a dark horse left by the summer of 1920.

The new Victory loan will amount to six billion dollars. Put your hand into your pocket and see how much of it is there.

The young woman recalls with feelings of intense patriotism that the government never placed any restrictions on face powder.

The man before going into the army loved Shakespeare and Beethoven often finds now that Service and Sousa hit the right spot.

Perhaps the senate thought they were inappropriate appropriation bills, and that is why they passed them up.

Will wonders never cease? It is reported that the warring Irish factions are striving to come to an agreement.

Spring has come. The birds and the wealthy are migrating from the South and the public at large is buying garden seeds.

Birds generally have it all over the rest of us. They build their own homes, are not subject to union labor, and the price of their materials never goes up.

How can a boy who has to pay a luxury tax of ten per cent on baseball bats and mitts ever be expected to grow up into a man and soldier?

One hears of a house "renting for a song." But this is never more appropriate than in the case of the little wren houses that people are now putting up.

If William Hohenzollern years ago had confined himself to sawing wood instead of planning wars, what a difference it would have made to the world at large.

The notable things about the month of March were the March hare and the senatorial filibuster and President Wilson's departure and the March winds and the vernal equinox.

It is a singular coincidence that spring elections and housecleaning hold the center of the stage at the same time. Can it be that politics need soap and water and airing?

If you object to the loss of an hour between March 30th and April 1st, remember that it would not have been a "crowded hour of glorious life"—you would only have spent it in sleep.

When a woman has her hand full all day, cooking and washing dishes, sweeping and sewing, and then finds that her work is never done, it is hard to convince her that there is an unemployment problem.

Our boys have brought home from abroad some weird and sinuous French dances, such as the "frog dance," "the trench crawl," "the wounded wildcat" and others of that ilk. And they dance them—when the police allow it.

"The simple plan That they should take who have the power,

And they should keep who can" is an enticing formula, but if carried out it would bear rather heavily on the industrious middle class.

It is reported that Mexico and the Central American and South American countries do not especially favor incorporation of the Monroe doctrine in the League of Nations covenant. A pretty sure sign that the incorporation should be made.

This is the Central Record's birthday. Thirty years young.

Delineator, McCall's and all kinds of magazines. See Mrs. Dolly Brown 3-27-2t-pd.

Pure, white, delicious biscuits, bread, rolls and cake made from Ballard's first patent Obelisk Flour. Delivered anywhere in the city.

Hudson, Hughes and Farnau.

Services At Antioch.

Rev. J. R. Moorman will preach at the new Antioch church, near McCreary next Sunday afternoon. The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

Houses Sell.

The sale of houses on the lots recently purchased by the Garrard Tobacco Warehouse Company, brought out one of the largest crowds seen lately at any sale. The sale totaled nearly $1000 and the purchasers are already tearing them down to be moved to other parts of the city.

We Need Them Here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pumphrey have returned to their home in Lancaster, after a visit with their son, F. Y. Pumphrey. Mr. Pumphrey said that he likes Somerset, and we hope that some day in the near future, he and his good wife will conclude to make this city their home—Somerset Commonwealth.

Supervisors Busy.

The Garrard County Board of Supervisors have been quite busy for the past week hearing complaints from the tax-payers whose property has been raised by order of the State Tax Commission.

Probably two hundred were summoned before the Board for last Monday and from the crowd that packed the court house, most of them answered the summons.

Protracted Meeting.

A series of meetings will begin at the Methodist church in this city, Sunday April 13th, at which time Rev. L. B. Bridgers, of Gainesville, Ga., will arrive and assist Rev. Palmer throughout the meeting. Mr. Bridgers comes highly recommended as an evangelist and we have no doubt that much good will be accomplished through his teachings. More details of the meeting will be given next week.

Simpson House Sold.

Judge L. L. Walker purchased the dwelling of Mrs. Uriah Simpson last Saturday afternoon and possession was given at once. The price, while not given out, is said to have been a good one. Judge Walker will make extensive improvements, adding several rooms and remodel the entire building.
It will be a source of pleasure to her friends as well as to the public to know that Mrs. Simpson will continue to run it as a boarding house the remainder of the year and longer if she so desires. The property was bought by Judge Walker as an investment.

Swinebroad Sells 'Em.

The above title is always appropriate when one speaks of a farm that has been placed in the hands of Swinebroad the real estate man for sale. He always sells 'em. Some of his recent sales made within the past week included the Frye Sale at Hustonville which brought $5,232 cash. The Pettus sale the day following, the farm containing 82 1-2 acres was sold to J. B. Bryan at $173 an acre. Mr. Bryan paid cash for this farm. This sale "wizzard" also sold for W. E. Moss the farm that was recently purchased of S. B. Doolin out the Kemper Lane, to Walter Humphrey for $140 an acre. Mr. Moss paid $125 an acre for it January 1st last.
Mr. Swinebroad is going to sell another one next Thursday. Read about it in this issue.

TWO SUPERVISORS.County Attorney Calls Court's Attention To Money Illegally Spent.

The agitation of the twenty cent road tax, mention of which was made in our last issue, has stirred the people of the county to some extent and unearthed the fact that Garrard County was paying the salaries of two road supervisors, notice of which was brought to the attention of the Fiscal Court at its meeting last Tuesday, by our County Attorney, Green Clay Walker.

Mr. Walker who is employed to look after the peoples interest and at the same time to see to it that the county's money is legally spent, discovered that Mike Forbes is being paid five dollars a day for his services as Road Supervisor and that Dr. J. A. Amon is also drawing a salary of $1,200 a year for the same services. Both of these men are being paid out of the county's money.

When the attention of the court was called to it by Mr. Walker, it was decided that the matter would be taken up at its next meeting tomorrow, as some of the court was of the opinion that Forbes salary was being paid by Dr. Amon.

The County Attorney contends that the county should not pay the salary of two supervisors, and if the second one is needed, it should come from the pockets of Dr. Amon.

In the meantime the people will await with abated interest, the conclusions the court will come to in the matter that is being so liberally discussed by the tax-payers of the county.

Special Drive For Workers.

The local chapter of the Red Cross will put on a special drive for workers, week beginning April 7th to 12th inclusive. In doing this they hope to enlist all the women in the making of 1000 garments that this chapter has been asked to furnish by May 16th. The following schedule has been made out for the convenience of the women and they are asked to come, bring their lunch and stay all day. Sewing can be done in the homes if so desired.

Monday, April 7th, Richmond street and Hamilton avenue; Mrs. J. A. Amon, Captain; Tuesday, April 8th, Danville and Crab Orchard streets; Miss Jane Doty, Captain; Wednesday, April 9th, Lexington street, Hill Court and Haselden Heights; Mrs. Joe E. Robinson, Captain; Friday April 11th, Stanford St., and Maple Avenue, Mrs. Will Burton, Captain; Saturday, April 12th, all who will are asked to come.

Garrard Boy Comes Home.

Ed Lee Conn, R. S. M., who has just returned from France and is temporarily located at Camp Hill, Va. has returned to duty after a brief furlough.

Sergt. Conn came by to see his brother, George Y. Conn, of Baltimore, Md., and was accompanied by his sister, Miss Virginia Conn from Lexington to Lancaster where they have been the guests of their brothers Messrs John A., James G. and Thos. W. Conn.

The many friends of this popular young soldier will be glad to know that he intends to come home to stay as soon as his present enlistment has been completed, which will be in the spring of 1920 under present conditions.

Sergt. Conn was looking fine and reported excellent health. He says the best thing about army life in France was the kindness of the Red Cross and Salvation Army in whose praise he cannot say enough.

Big Lot Sale.

The D. A. Thomas Realty Company are advertising in this issue the public sale of lots on Danville street, which will be sold Saturday April 12th. These are very desirable lots and we predict they will sell rapidly. Lots of this character are very scarce in Lancaster and will be in great demand later.

There is not a vacant house in the city of Lancaster and inquiries are made every day by parties who wish to rent and are unable to find homes. This should not be the case and the public spirited citizens of the town and community should see that these conditions are corrected. One way is to buy some nice lots and build houses that can be rented or sold at reasonable prices.

WATTERSONRETIRE. Severs Connection With Courier Journal after Fifty Years Service.

The announcement that Henry Watterson has severed his connection as Editor Emeritus of the Courier Journal, after serving fifty years as its editor, will be read with regret by his friends and patrons of this splendid journal.

The Courier Journal of yesterday said editorially:

"Mr. Watterson retires as Editor Emeritus of The Courier-Journal with this issue. From 1868 until 1918 its editor, his brilliant, forceful and individual writings on public questions brought fame both to himself and this journal. Desiring to retire last August when control of the newspaper changed hands, he yet was persuaded to remain in the capacity of Editor Emeritus, through which connection he might continue to address the readers of The Courier Journal while relieved of the active responsibilities of the editorship. He now requests his retirement, finding in conflict his views, opposing the League of Nations, and those of The Courier-Journal, favoring the proposal. His personality will continue to be an inspiration to Courier-Journal workers: his accomplishments, a standard of achievement; his name, one to be praised and loved. He has passed his seventy-ninth birthday. May he pass many another milestone before the world loses him as a companion or letters are deprived of the magic of his pen."

IN JAIL AGAINConfirmed Thief Draws Thirty Days on Third Conviction.

McKinley Schooler, a colored boy who went to the Pen a year or so ago for house-breaking is back in town again, and on Monday was brought before Judge Stapp on a charge of stealing harness from Mr. J. A. Beazley. It seems that the negro got the harness in the day-time and attempted to trade them to the Garrard Mill for coal when the engineer at the Mill suspected something and called up Mr. Beazley, who promptly recognized his harness and had the negro arrested and brought before Judge Stapp who after hearing the evidence of Mr. Beazley and the engineer at the Mill found the negro guilty and fixed his punishment at thirty days in the County Jail. This same negro spent a year and eighty days in jail on one stretch prior to his trip to "the pen."

Entertained.

Rev. J. R. Moorman entertained a few of his friends at the Kengarian last Tuesday evening at which time a delightful dinner was served. Those enjoying the hospitality of the genial "parson" were: Messrs John M. Farrar, F. S. Hughes, J. A. Beazley, P. H. Hopkins, L. G. Davidson, Dr. W. M. Elliott and R. L. Elkin.

Junior Social.

Mrs. F. D. Palmer, assisted by Mrs. Walton Moss, entertained the Junior Missionary Society at the Methodist Parsonage Saturday afternoon.

There were twenty-six boys and girls present. After playing games, they were served with refreshments. All left after having spent a most delightful afternoon together.

YOUR TEETHNeglect of Their Care Is Often Fatal.

In spite of all that has been said and written about the care of the teeth, they are probably neglected more than any part of the body. Most people fail to clean their teeth properly and this results in decay.

They neglect to go to the dentist until the pain becomes acute, when it often is too late to save the tooth. This is bad enough and the majority of people think it is all, but it is not.

A great number of diseases result from bad teeth and if every one realized the danger, the dentists would be consulted far more frequently than they are.

Dr. Charles H. Mayo recently declared that the majority of diseases of the tonsils, throat and nasal passages come from infected teeth.

Another prominent physician has called attention to the great danger from Pyorrhea of Riggs disease. An abscessing pocket around the tooth constantly distributes infection to other parts of the body.

Dr. W. A. Evans, at that time Commissioner of Health of Chicago, in discussing this subject, said: "The importance of diphtheria I am sure is fully understood but the enlargement of the glands of the neck, of the nose, of the tonsils, and of the pharynx are not so clearly understood."

"They are due to absorptions somewhere in the nose or within the mouth and a large per cent of which absorptions take place through the cavities in the teeth or down the sides of unclean teeth."

"We are constantly confronted with instances like this: A child has been in a diphtheria hospital and remained there until it seemed safe for the child to go home. Then the child has gone home and there has followed an infection of diphtheria in that home. What is the explanation?"

Simply that in some recess, somewhere in that child there was a focus of hidden bacteria and in all probability a large percentage of those infections are either in the tooth cavities or somewhere in close connection with tooth cavities."

The pus from one abscessed tooth may supply a constant infection to the membrane of the stomach, and the result is gastric catarrh. The contents of such a stomach, with the added handicap of poorly masticated food, pass on into the smaller and larger intestines where the entire mass decays and auto-intoxication results.

In the public schools it has been found that 40 per cent of the absentees are caused by toothache or other preventable dental ills. It has been shown that children with decayed teeth are six months longer in completing the grades than the children with good teeth and clean mouths. Bad teeth kill more people than bad food. It is believed without fear of successful contradiction, that it could be found that the losses from all such cases would exceed the cost of all necessary dental treatment. Defective teeth likewise interfere with nutrition of children and the nourishment has been found to be below normal in 52 per cent of those with one or more bad teeth.

One woman out of seven and one man out of eleven, after the age of thirty-five years, die of cancer in England. Cancer is sixth in the list of diseases that cause death in the United States.

Different estimates indicate that from nine to 26.3 per cent of all cancers are found on the tongue. Still others declare that one-seventh to two-fifths of all cancers are on exposed surfaces where they should be discovered early, operated upon and cured. Equally significant is the estimate that one-third to one-half of all cancers are found in the stomach and intestines.

The particular irritation that is frequently found to cause cancer in the mouth is the sharp edge of a decayed, worn, misplaced or tartar-covered tooth. The constant rubbing of the tongue, cheek, or lips over a tooth produces an abrasion, an abrasion develops into a sore, and from a sore it may pass on through various stages to cancer. The irritation produced by the sharp edge of a poorly fitting plate, bridge, crown or filling has caused cancer of the mouth.

Cancerous growths may also spring from the irritated and injured gum surrounding decayed and broken down teeth. Polyps grow from irritated tooth pulps. Bony growths result from chronic inflammation of the covering of tooth roots. Injury to the bony support of teeth by extraction has resulted in the development of cancerous growths in these locations. Defective and diseased teeth often

SUDDEN DEATHClaims Young Mother.

The relatives and friends of Mrs. Henrietta Arnold Raney were greatly shocked last Sunday morning when they learned she had breathed her last in Danville just as she was thought to be convalescent and was ready to return to her home and loved ones.

Two weeks before, Mrs. Raney was operated on at the Danville hospital. She had improved daily and permission had been given for her to return home. Sunday morning, her local physician, Dr. W. M. Elliott went to Danville to bring her home in his car; her nurse had just placed her in the machine, when her head was seen to drop forward and in a few minutes she had passed into the great beyond. The immediate cause of her death being pulmonary embolism.

Her death is doubly sad because she leaves a young daughter, Josephine, in her tender years, when she most needs a mother's love. Other hearts which have known like bereavement respond to the sorrow of the little girl with tenderest compassion and sympathy. Like sorrows evoke like sympathies, preventing our hearts from becoming fallow to the higher and more generous emotions of our being.

Someone has called death a "bright thing with a dreary name". If we could lift the edge of the curtain which divides us from those who have passed over and know of the life beyond as compared to this life, then indeed might death be called a "bright thing."

Beside her daughter, Mrs. Raney is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Edd Ross, of this city, and Mrs. Bettie Wilson, of Widner, Ark., and one brother, John Arnold, of Providence, R. I.

Beautiful burial services were conducted at the Lancaster cemetery Tuesday afternoon by Rev. J. R. Moorman, where her body lies buried beneath a mound of flowers.

High Cost of Living Got a Knockout Blow.

The following item was taken from the Marion Falcon, and will be interesting to many of our readers, who will agree that James Head is an exception, even tho he is too modest to admit it:

Did you ever notice that the principal topic of conversation every where and on all occasions is the high cost of living? It is really refreshing to find some one, who has not been worried by the all important subject.

Joe Mike Purdy, the prosperous route three farmer, is responsible for this item. While spending a pleasant short while in the Falcon office a few days ago he told of a young man, who was in the Army for ten months, saw foreign service, returned to this country, received his discharge and reached his home and during the whole ten months only spent $6.10. The young man is James Head, son of Frank Head, of Springfield. Young Head was not especially anxious to save his army pay but stated that he neither chewed or smoked tobacco nor drank liquors; that the Government furnished him all the clothes he needed, boarded him well and paid his traveling expenses; the welfare agencies gave him his writing materials, books, papers, etc., to read; they also furnished places of amusement to attend; his mail required no stamps, so if he had not bought a razor, some souvenirs, and had his picture taken he would not have had a cent.

Mr. Head had seen considerable of the United States, England, and France, has had fine training, and came back nearly $400 to the good. It is not likely that there is another instance like this among the millions of men called to the colors.—Springfield Sun.

For Bed, Board and Laundry. Here is a perfect gem of misplaced English from a woman answering an advertisement for a French governess "au pair": "I know a little English, and could give easy, at once, lessons in French, for which I will be nourished, lying down and bleached, who, I think, are the conditions 'au pair.'"—Boston Transcript.

cause ulcer of the stomach.

Certainly these dangers should impel every one to keep the teeth clean and filled. You should consult your dentist frequently. Buy a good tooth-brush and use it regularly morning and evening, and after every meal if possible. Use a good tooth cleanser, such as your dentist will recommend.

Lake With No Outlet.

Lake Chad, in the heart of East Africa, has no known outlet for the many rivers pouring into it. Its waters rise and fall with great rapidity. The Alexander expedition records that frequently spaces over which they had sailed in the morning had by evening become stretches of dried mud.

Sacrilege.

The Kansas Industrialist says skunk oil and rattlesnake oil are worthless as liniments for rheumatism and kindred ills. Just how far should college papers be allowed to go in interference with free beliefs founded on the traditions of centuries? Reading Useless Without Action.

If you want to get value out of a book, however, don't lean on it as though you were a cripple. A book can't take you by sheer force and project you into a good job, or put more money in your pay envelope, or make you industrious or patient when you are otherwise. All you can expect of a book is that it tells you how these things can be accomplished. The real job lies with you.

Labor-Saving Devices.

Water is used to transport fine coal through pipes, and in Oregon a blast of air is used to load hay in freight cars. The hay is drawn up to a deck or float beside the car to be loaded, a crane then lifts the hay to this platform, and a blower, driven by a gasoline engine, hurls the hay forcibly into the car, packing it better than can be done with old-fashioned hand fork.

PRODUCE GROWERS KEPT IN TOUCH WITH CONDITIONS BY GOVERNMENT SERVICE

Using the Government's Eyes to Improve Opportunities.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Shaping one's course by faith rather than by sight is doubtless good practice, spiritually speaking, but produce growers used to find it mighty disastrous in business. Of course, some of them are still following the faith system of growing and marketing, because they have not seen fit to use the eyes furnished them by the government in the crop and market reporting service of the United States department of agriculture. These are still planting, gathering, and marketing more or less at random, but a constantly increasing number are looking around and ahead, seeing what other sections are doing, finding where any shortage or surplus is likely to be produced, ascertaining special advantages or disadvantages in consuming centers, and generally getting a forecast of the market from crop and other conditions the country over.

The farsighted southern potato grower no longer plants blindly or by rote. He takes into account the volume and probable movement of the northern crop and the quantity of the old crop likely to come over till spring. The northern grower watches the development of the southern crop. If the southern acreage is reduced, if there are late freezes, if anything happens to bring about a material reduction of the crop in the South or in any large potato-growing section of the North, the wide-awake northern grower is in position to make money by putting in a late acreage and top-dressing it. The Texas onion grower, before time for planting, takes into consideration the quantity of old northern stock in storage and the rate at which it is going to market.

Worth $500 to This Grower.

In a score of lines the same system is being followed. Take, for illustration, the case of a grower of hothouse lettuce in the neighborhood of one of the large eastern cities. Ordinarily he grows to meet a fairly late market, after the Florida and South Carolina crops are off. But if he receives news of a destructive freeze in the South, he promptly regulates his seed beds and moisture in such way as materially to advance the maturity of his crop to take advantage of the shortage soon to occur. One such grower of hothouse lettuce says that the government crop and market reporting service is worth $500 a year to him in that way.

Here is another concrete illustration: During the past season there was a short crop of potatoes in Virginia and Maryland. The crop and market reporting service informed potato growers over the country of that fact in time for them to take advantage of it. As a result, some southern growers held their potatoes for a few weeks, while some northern growers dug and marketed theirs a little earlier than usual, thus not only obtaining better prices, but filling in a period when there would have been otherwise a shortage of new potatoes.

Shows Market Advantages.

The service indicates, to the grower who uses it intelligently, temporary and local market advantages. A city that this week is an extremely poor market for a particular commodity may be the best market for that commodity next week. The grower who has followed the reports and correctly interpreted conditions is thus in position to ship in such way as to get his produce on that market at the beginning of better prices.

The results are beneficial alike to producer and consumer. The producer takes advantage of the market where prices are best. The consumer has a more regular supply and usually without extreme fluctuations in prices. Of course, such application of benefits is not yet universal. The service is comparatively new and many people have not yet learned to avail themselves of it. However, the 32 permanent branch offices of the bureau of markets and the numerous temporary stations in shipping areas bring within reach of practically all shippers the information furnished in the form of daily market bulletins, weekly market reviews and monthly news articles.

GAVE UNTIL IT HURT.
This Man Reneged And Says He's Down And Out.

A recent attempt to raise some money for a charitable purpose brought forth the following heart-breaking reply:

Dear Sir:—

I have your letter requesting a donation for what you consider a very worthy cause. I flatter myself that I have a spirit of loyalty and generosity. I have contributed to every object that has been presented to me but I have to decline helping your cause along for the following reasons:

I have been held up, held down, sandbagged, walked on, sat on, rolled over, flattened out, and squeezed; first by the United States Government for the Federal War Tax, the excess profits tax, the Liberty Loan Bonds and the bonds of matrimony; in New Jersey for the State Tax, the highway tax, the income tax, the auto tax, school tax, cat tax, and syntax, and every society and organization the inventive mind of man can invent to extract what you may or may not possess, from the Society of John the Baptist, the G. A. R., the Women's relief corps, the men's relief, the stomach relief, the wifeless, the husbandless, the childless, the conscienceless, the navy league, the Red Cross, the green cross, the double cross, and every other cross of all colors, and by the children's home, the Dorcas society and the hospital.

One of my mills burned down, the hen house and board walk blew away and, because I will not sell all that I have to go beg, borrow, and steal, I have been cussed and discussed, boycotted, talked to and talked about, lied to and lied about, held up, hung up, robbed and nearly ruined, and the only reason I am clinging to life is to see what in h— is coming next.

Very truly yours,

Don't Feed Your Liver to Action

NR Overcomes Biliousness, Constipation, Sick Headache, Quickly. No Griping or Pain. Guaranteed.

The organs of digestion, assimilation and elimination—the stomach, liver and bowels—are closely allied, and the proper action of any of these organs is largely dependent upon the correct functioning of all the others. "Whipping" your liver into action with calomel or forcing your bowels with irritating laxatives or strong cathartics is a great mistake. A better, safer plan is strengthening and toning the whole digestive and eliminative system with Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), which not only brings immediate relief, but genuine and lasting benefit. It acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, improves digestion and assimilation, overcomes biliousness, corrects constipation and quickly relieves sick headache.

Get your system thoroughly cleansed and purified for once; stomach, liver and bowels working together in vigorous harmony, and you will not have to take medicine every day—just take one NR Tablet occasionally to keep your system in good condition and always feel your best. Remember it is easier and cheaper to keep well than it is to get well.

Get a 25c box and try it with the understanding that it must give you greater relief and benefit than any bowel or liver medicine you ever used or to pay. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

CAPE AND COAT IN ONE

The grace of capes and the convenience of coats are joined in many wraps this spring. A happy combination is shown in the picture above where a short shoulder cape supports a long, loose coat, which falls in box-plaits from it. Beige colored velours is the material used, and the flat buttons set along the edge of the cape portion are covered with it. This coat has no collar, but a silk scarf is worn with it when needed. The coat is eight inches shorter than the dress skirt. There is a greater difference in length between coats and skirts this year than last owing to the arrival of skirts considerably longer than they have been.

DEADLY GERM DISCOVERED.

I'm Thru-enza is Latest Affliction among war Workers.—Symptoms Peculiar to This Disease Are Spreading Rapidly.

With the cessation of hostilities, a new epidemic has appeared. It is known as the "I'm Thru-enza" and very peculiar its ravages are confined to war workers only.

The initial symptom is a sense of lassitude—a feeling of "What's the use? It's all over. Why should I do war work?"

Steps are being taken to isolate the germ—also those who are carrying it. The epidemic is not wide-spread, nevertheless its advance must be stemmed.

"Cold Feet" is a marked symptom. Another indication of the presence of the germ is forgetfulness (that the boys are still over there.)

The victim as a rule cannot concentrate the mind (on war work.) The sight becomes impaired (can't see solicitors for war relief funds.) The ears become affected (can't hear the appeals of the world for food.)

Heart doesn't beat as it used to, and in advanced stage that organ seems turned to stone.

A vaccine consisting of equal parts of tincture of I won't quit and good American spirits, a dash of patriotism and a pack of pep is effective.

Why Hens Cackle.

Hens cackle when they lay for the same reason that the doing of anything which human beings are meant to do gives them pleasure. It is an instinctive action. For the same reason a dog wags his tail when it is pleased. Even humans, when pleased with themselves, want to sing, or whistle or dance, or express their emotions in some way.

THE CLAIMS OF LITTLE NATIONS.

It is time for the American Indian to be heard at the peace table.

This gentleman has been a little neglected. The demands of the various races that claim the right to develop as independent nationalities have nearly all found expression. But how about the Injun?

It may be urged that he has fused with the American nation. True, but after subjugation. He accepted national extinction to escape physical choice of alternatives that follows conquest.

Well, then. It is so long since his subjugation that it is impractical to dig up his claims. They were buried with his hatchet. He is part of us, and to hand him back his independence—and the American continent, which is his by squatter's right—would be too violent a resolution into original elements.

Is it so long since he was vanquished? If this lapse of time kills his claim, then Ireland's is not only dead by petrified. The red man had his independence long after Ireland merged with Great Britain.

But Indians are savages. Are they? Our boasted civilization is not worth a bean if it left him where it found him. But it did not. Among the ranks of lawyers, physicians and other men of culture the red man holds his own with the pale-face. There are parts of Ireland where the inhabitants fight against education with the same persistency that the Indian shows in embracing it.

This is no tirade against Ireland—the birthplace of poets, orators, jurists—of generals who time and again have led British armies to victory. It is merely a plea for cool heads and clarified theorizing.

To dissolve nations into their original components is not the irresponsible joy-ride that some visionaries imagine. If the bundle of fagots is broken too completely there will be nothing left but sawdust. It is harder to mend than to break.

In parts of England the Danish element predominates over the Saxon, the Norman and the Celt. In parts of America the African predominates. Try this program of disruption if you want to, but its problems are not without a certain complexity, and the more consistently we theorize the more complex they become.

THE IMMIGRATION BILL.

Among the bills which failed to pass in the closing hours of the Sixty-Fifth Congress was a bill restricting immigration for the next four years.

The failure to pass this bill was an unfortunate circumstance. Immigration into this country has almost ceased since the Great War began. If it is desirable to limit immigration the present is the time to do so. It will occasion less inconvenience and create less feeling than at a period when the immigration tide might be at full flow.

After a war there is always a time when manufacturing and commerce refit themselves to the conditions of peace. At such a time capital is timid, and it is only step by step that established enterprises broaden their scope or new ones advance. Over a million young men are now returning from France to such conditions as we have just described. We cannot tell whether an inrush of immigration from Europe might be probable, or what effect it might have upon this country. But we do know that it is our clear duty to protect our young men against any bad results which such a possible influx of European labor might cause.

The United States has always been known as the "refuge of the oppressed of all nations." By restricting immigration for a time it will not abandon its principles. It is in the position of a man who has always been truly hospitable and has opened his house for the shelter and comfort of many people. The time comes when he wishes to repair and refit his home, and to study the possibilities of achieving a broader usefulness in the future. To bring this about he must close the house for the time being.

It is hoped that when the Sixty-Sixth Congress convenes it will at once take up the consideration of the immigration bill which failed of passage or of a similar one. The present conditions demand it.

"FAITH, HOPE AND CHARITY—BUT THE GREATEST OF THESE IS CHARITY".

"I see before me, stretching mile after mile into the horizon, the bleak snow-mantled spaces of war stricken Eastern Europe. I see the long tragic row of carts and wagons drawn by emaciated beasts whose bones protrude through mangy skins. Upon these carts and wagons I see the tragic remnants of what was once a home. I see the old men walking by the side of the horse, grandfathers bowed with physical and mental suffering, and bearing upon their withered faces the hideous scars of agony and starvation. And I see the women huddled among the bundles and bags, shivering and sobbing, with their wasted eyes gazing out upon that God-forsaken endless freezing plain."

"But these are the fortunate ones. Behind them in a long procession trail those miserable creatures who have no carts, no horses, no bundles save those upon their back. A child passes, and I notice that he leaves behind him in the snow a bloody little foot print. Zero and soleless in Russia! And so, starving and staggering, and now and then falling in the snow drifts, never to rise again, they plod their hopeless way from the charred and desecrated ruins of the only homes they ever knew."

"In America today the theatre and cabarets, the dance halls and picture palaces are jammed to the doors. People crowd into the streets awaiting their turn to see their favorite actors and dramas. In hotels and restaurants the men who made millions because of the war are eating choice food prepared by high salaried experts paid to tickle the palate of the fastidious. Cocktails and artichokes; lobster and chicken a la King; french Pastry and cheese that costs a dollar a portion—

"And over in Eastern Europe a ragged freezing child is sobbing its little heart out for the want of a crust of bread."

France's stipulation that the German territory lying west of the Rhine be ceded to her seems to have been turned down by the peace conference. If so, the decision is a wise one.

It is not surprising that France, embittered for fifty years by the cession of Alsace-Lorraine to Germany after the war of 1871, should now seek a similar advantage. But the very fact that the Alsace-Lorraine question has been a constant menace to the peace of Europe shows the futility of such a step.

Race, religion, language and national customs form the natural boundaries of countries. Bismarck himself, shrewd diplomat and statesman that he was, said at the time of the cession of Alsace-Lorraine, "I do not like having so many Frenchmen in our house against their will." The splendor of the prize, however, overcame his better judgment.

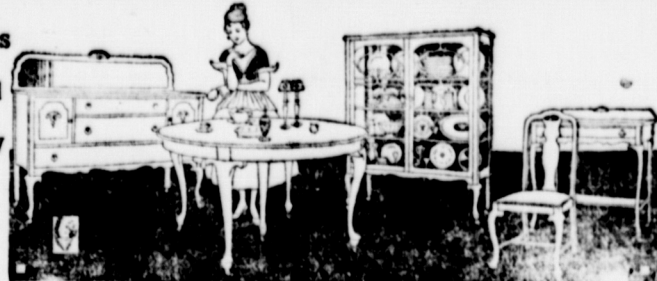

Europe will not repeat this mistake. Placing any considerable amount of German territory under the government of France would be an error whose correction would be made some day in "blood and iron."

JOBS.

"Returning soldiers can't get jobs." Some of them can't certainly.

And there are some jobs that can't get soldiers. These jobs are on the farms.

Twelve months ago the farmers were wondering how to get through the year after losing the boys. And, by achieving the impossible, they did.

They say they can't do it twice. They must have the boys back. And it seems only reasonable to release skilled farm help from the army and keep those who have no jobs waiting for them. No one could call it favoritism, for a farm-hand's job is not an easy money proposition. And there would be no difficulty in picking the men out, as they were classified according to vocations when the draft took them away.

When spring comes we all feel the influence of the mild air and sunshine and general renewal of the year.

Our winter garments and furnishings seem worn and heavy and dim, and we long for the fresh spring dress or coat, and trim new pumps or Oxfords, and the new hat that befits the season.

And when we look the house over we see the need of fresh curtains in this room, a new rug in that, a piece of new furniture elsewhere.

Remember that our local dealers have fresh and seasonable stocks to show you. You will be able to thoroughly examine your goods before purchasing, and will have the attendance of people whom you know, who understand your needs and tastes and will give you pleasant and courteous service.

Amid the discussion of war indemnities the voice of the German apologist is uplifted.

We are told that the gastly catalogue of Germany's crimes was the fault of the Kaiser and his immediate entourage. Had the bulk of the German people been given a voice they would have forbidden the whole program of atrocity.

Two years ago the same apologist was informing us that this was not a war of democracy against despotism, because the German form of government was as representative as that of any republic. It was to quote one of the most loquacious of Germany's defenders, "a magnificent experiment in applied socialism".

Now is the time for some artist in word-jugglery to reconcile these two pronouncements.

We certainly have all of us excellent reasons for trusting to Mr. Hoover's opinions in regard to food. And he has just informed us why American food should be shipped to Germany, taking the subject from nine different points of view.

One of the most practical of these reasons is that famine breeds anarchy, and anarchy is infectious. If hungry Germany received the gospel of Bolshevism, and it spread from Germany to France and England, it would be more than likely to trouble us in the United States.

Another reason is that Germany must have food in order to get back to production and have the wherewithal to pay indemnities.

Mr. Hoover does not neglect humanitarian reasons, and he also says that we have not been and are not fighting women and children.

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION!

Governor A. O. Stanley has issued the following proclamation from his office:

"TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY, GREETINGS:

Whereas, the receding armies of the Central Powers have left in their wake indescribable scenes of suffering and privation, torture, famine and death, our duty to the oppressed and enslaved people of the Old World is only half finished when the invader is driven from the borders of these suffering lands. It is a pleasant and a Christian duty to minister to the wants of those whom we have made free.

"The boon of freedom itself cannot save the starving from death, or the naked from the winds of winter, or house the homeless.

"Today upon the Eastern front there are untold millions of men, women, and children of the Jewish race who are in the direct need of the simplest necessities of life and unless they find succor here and find it without delay, these war sufferers will sink forever under the burdens of want and oppression, torture and outrage, which no tongue can tell or pen portray.

"To the aid of these victims of brutality the Kentucky Division of the American Jewish Relief Committee has determined to carry on a campaign for the raising of funds.

"Therefore, I, A. O. Stanley, Governor of Kentucky, issue this proclamation setting aside April 7th to 11th, 1919, as Jewish War Relief Days in the State of Kentucky.

"IN TESTIMONY whereof, I have caused these letters to be made patent, and the seal of the Commonwealth to be hereunto affixed. Done at Frankfort, the twenty-fourth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, and in the one hundred and twenty-seventh year of the Commonwealth."

AUTO RENTERS Must Pay Special Tax.

The Act approved February 24th, 1919, imposes a special tax on persons carrying on the business of operating or renting passenger automobiles for hire. This tax applies to every automobile owner or operator who accepts pay or who has at any time since January 1st, 1919, accepted pay for carrying passengers, or who does or has since January 1st, hired or rented a passenger automobile to any person.

The annual rate is $10.00 for each car having a seating capacity of more than two and not more than seven, and $20.00 for each car having a seating capacity of more than seven. The law became effective January 1st, 1919, and those who did business in that month must pay $5.00 or $10.00 for each car according to seating capacity. Those who began business in February must pay $4.17 or $8.34; in March $3.34 or $6.68; in April, $2.50 or $5.00; in May $1.67 or $3.34 and in June 84 cents or $1.68 according to seating capacity. Beginning July 1st tax must be paid for a full year to the following June 30.

Interested parties should apply to Collector John W. Hughes at Danville.

Ky., for application blanks so that they may escape the penalty for delinquency which will accrue when his force begins a canvas of the district, which will be within the next few days.

The new law also imposes a tax of five per cent on the amount for candy manufactured and sold in this district, on and after February 25th. The tax on sales made from February 25th to 28th inclusive must be reported and paid within the month of March. The tax on sales in subsequent months must be reported and paid in the month following that in which the sales were made.

Alfalfa Had Hard Fight

Alfalfa has had a long hard fight to gain a place on the American farm. In 1798 George Washington had quite a field of alfalfa at Mt. Vernon. His success in growing "lucerne", as he called it in his diary, was not great because his soil was deficient in lime.

The growing of this wonderful legume has increased tremendously in Kentucky in the past twenty years. Circular No. 70, "Alfalfa" has the following to say concerning the acreage in this State.

"In 1899 the census report gave 808 acres of alfalfa for Kentucky. In 1909 the acreage was 20,229. Later statistics for the State are not available; but there has been a very large increase since that time. Especially is this true for the limestone lands of northern Kentucky in the region of Pendleton County where sweet clover has prepared the way for alfalfa. In 1915 there were 10,900 acres reported for the county."

This new circular gives the reader the very latest information concerning the growing and harvesting of this most valuable hay crop. The farmer, who is thinking of sowing some alfalfa in the near future, should write at once to the College of Agriculture at Lexington and ask for Circular No. 70.

DOORS CLOSED TO HUN TRADE Importers of German Specialties Warned They Are Subject To Prosecution By En- emy Trade Act.

WASHINGTON.—German hopes of reconquering American markets received another blow last week.

Users of dyes, chemicals, fertilizers and other products originated by German science were notified by the Alien Property Custodian that importations from Germany hereafter would be subject to prosecution as infringement of patents licensed under the trading with the enemy act for use by American manufacturers.

Possibility of a dumping of a great surplus stocks which Germans was reported to have accumulated with the intention of under selling and perhaps stifling the infant American industries in the same lines thus has been blocked effectually before shipments could begin.

Government officials regarded the decision as far-reaching importance to business in this country.

Several hundred patents registered in this country by Germans, the most important covering the manufacture of dyes and drugs, for which this country has been virtually dependent on Germany, have been licensed for use by Americans and new names substituted for the foreign designations to make the industries more thoroughly American. The law provides a fixed compensation to the originator of the patent.

While the alien property custodian's opinion did not touch on copyrights, which also come under his jurisdiction, it was said informally that the same principle would apply on several German-owned operas and various scientific works which have been licensed for production and publication in the United States.

City And Town Organizations.

Under the direction of the State Campaign organization and the district chairmen and assistants, the campaign to raise $208,000 in Kentucky during the week of April 7-11 for the relief of Jewish Sufferers in the war stricken districts of Eastern Europe, is being carried into the smallest civic units through organizations in cities and towns.

Cities already organized with their chairmen are Louisville—Harry Bloom, Lexington—M. Kaufman, Danville—Hyman Pushin, Elizabethtown—Louis Goldnamer, assistant, D. M. Cooper; Covington—Nathan Rosenberg, Paducah—Louis Rubel and W. F. Bradshaw, Jr., Bowling Green—Sam Pushin, Princeton—R. M. Pool, Winchester—Lee Brumfield and Judge J. N. Benton, Mt. Greenebaum, Georgetown—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Marks, Hopkinsville—H. M. Frankel, chairman and George W. Crenshaw, Vice Chairman, Frankfort—Charles F. Strassner.

The organization is being rapidly pushed in other cities and towns in all sections of the State.

From Coffin To Frying Pan.

At the Cluny Museum in Paris is a very interesting relic. On day a few years ago, the curator of the museum happened to visit a small restaurant in the suburb of Saint Denis, where a single apartment served as both dining room and kitchen. While waiting to be served, the curator noticed a frying pan of unusual appearance hanging on the wall. He took it down, and with a magnifying glass was able to make out part of an inscription which interested him so greatly that he bought the cooking utensil. When carefully cleaned the pan was found to bear the arms of France and Navarre surrounded by the chain of St. Louis and the cord of the order of Saint Esprit. It also contained the following inscription: "Here lies the magnificent Prince, King Louis XIV, King of France and Navarre. Requiescat in pace." It was indeed the plate that had been fastened to the coffin of Louis XIV. When the burial vaults of the royal family in the cathedral at Saint Denis were rifled by the populace in 1793, it had been wrenched from the coffin. So little apparently was it esteemed by its possessor that it was fitted with a handle and turned into a frying pan. The handle has been removed.

Modern Slavery.

There is no legal and formal slavery now in any Christian country. It survives in a mild form in most Mohammedan countries. The peonage system of Latin American countries is not much different from slavery, but rests upon a different theory. The peon is not supposed to be owned as property; he is supposed to be working to pay a debt which he owes the master.

Dream Has Physical Basis.

The "falling from a height" dream has a physical basis, for scientists have shown that this form of nightmare invariably occurs during the first few minutes after falling asleep. It is suggested by the general muscular relaxation that takes place when we settle down. A change of position of even a fraction of an inch, or the least little slip of the muscles, is sufficient to convey the idea of a fall to the brain.

If the boy is not a companion to his father it is generally because the father was not a companion to the boy when the boy was a little fellow. Companionship is something which must grow through the years, especially for two people who live under the same roof and share the same fortunes.

How Many Teeth Have You ?

Its not "how many teeth you have", but it is the care you take of the teeth you have. As one "bad" tooth causes much pain, so does one decayed tooth cause the decay-ing of another. Prevent the loss of your "good" teeth by having your "bad" ones filled or treated. A visit to this office twice yearly will save your teeth and your dental bills.

METHODISTS CHANGE DATE

CAMPAIGN FOR $35,000,000 IN M. E.
CHURCH, SOUTH, CENTENARY DRIVE WILL BE HELD
MAY 18-25.

The date for the Methodist Centenary financial campaign has changed from April 27-May 4 to May 18-25, official announcement of which is being made throughout the length and breadth of Methodism today. Several weeks ago it was found necessary to change the April date in order not to interfere with the Government plans for the forthcoming Victory Loan Drive. The selection of another date has been held in abeyance pending the decision from Washington which was forwarded headquarters of the M. E. Church, South, recently.

The change in this date is of wide import to all Methodists who are, at this time, lining up plans of definite action regarding their part as individuals in the campaign. Dr. W. B. Beauchamp, Secretary of the Centenary Commission, stated today that he and other Centenary workers at headquarters have, through Secretary Carter Glass, pledged the loyal support of all Southern Methodists to the government at this crucial hour and that in setting May 18-25 as a date for the Centenary drive, he knows he will have the immediate and hearty cooperation of all conference secretaries, directors, field representatives and all workers connected with the campaign. The Methodist Centenary financial campaign is the largest religious campaign undertaken in the history of the world. One hundred and fifteen million dollars is the goal set—Southern Methodists pledging themselves to raise thirty-five million of that sum.

CHINA HAS A VERY IMPORTANT ROLE

PRACTICALLY ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND COOLIES
SENT TO FRANCE.

What optimist a generation ago would have thought that backward China would have a hand in the settlement of a world war? But China is having a very important role in the great war that is just being brought to a close. Not as soldiers—fighting men—but as laborers behind the front line trenches. And just so many allied troops have been released for other duties. Practically one hundred and fifty thousand of these coolies have been transported by way of the Suez to France. This work has been done under the direction of the British Government and Church Missionaries. Among these missionaries are many of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which is just finishing the details of its campaign May 18-25 to secure $35,000,000 to further work of the kind that is being done in France and other places.

BANDING TOGETHER TO SPREAD GOSPEL

Nashville, Tenn.—One hundred and forty thousand Southern Methodists have signified their determination to pray for the success of the missionary work of the M. E. Church, South, and for the spread of Christianity throughout the world. These people have not only decided to do this, but have banded together in a league known as the Fellowship of Intercession, each signing a small card which it is thought will make the cause for which they pray more definite in the minds of the signers of the cards.

Dr. S. A. Neblett, secretary of the Department of Intercession of the denomination, stated to a reporter that the way in which the prayer cards were coming in was an inspiration. From two thousand to five thousand of these are opened in the mail every morning, the number of 140,000 representing the complete total up to date.

FIVE HUNDRED WOMEN WANTED

Nashville, Tenn.—Five hundred young women are wanted at once by the Women's Missionary Council of the M. E. Church, South. They are wanted for services and missionaries of the church in both the home and foreign fields and the best type of womanhood is asked for. Women to whom the desire to serve has come very keenly, women who the spirit of the hour has gripped earnestly, this is the type with whom the church wishes to make connection for various forms of missionary endeavor.

The particular forms of missionary work open to the young women of the South are in the medical, evangelistic and educational departments in the mission fields. One hundred and fifty are wanted as evangelists and deaconesses; two hundred and fifty are wanted as teachers and one hundred are wanted as doctors and nurses. The call has particularly gone out for young women of college education in order that they may be able to grasp quickly the leadership in the work which the church needs.

The calling of these young women is made possible through the Centenary of the church which is being observed this year. A fund of $35,000,000 will be raised soon, and this money will make possible the sending of many missionaries to Africa, Japan, China, Brazil, Mexico, Cuba, Korea and in the home field.

Cracks At Creation.

Red is a good color in a flag, but an abominable one for a flag.

In other words $1,672,000,000 went up in smoke because it didn't go up in the air.

For the first half of March the most popular indoor sport was filing income tax schedules.

The American airplanes never went up in the air, but when the nation learned this fact it went up in the air.

"Nearly half a century in business"

In the current events race bird garden a close-second, and the 1919 baseball season not so very far in the migration is ahead, with the victory rear.

Gen. Leonard Wood ought to be an admirable candidate for president. The newspapers would find material in his name for so many good puns and jokes.

The war department is apparently counting "eeny, meeny, miny, mo" to determine the order in which the soldiers shall be sent home and demobilized.

If you had been serving Uncle Sam for $1.00 a year, and now found that you had to add the dollar to your income tax schedule and pay six to twelve cents upon it, would you use a big, big D?

Lethargic encephalities or "sleeping sickness" is now prevalent in this country. Its symptoms may very often be observed in business men Sunday mornings between the hours of six and eleven o'clock.

The Sixty-Fifth Congress has been pronounced by different unimpeachable authorities to be the very best and the very worst legislative body ever assembled since the beginning of time. How is a mere layman to decide?

The prospect is that you will be able to buy a fine U. S. airplane which cost the government from $2500 to $3500 for $100. Just think how handy it would be to use in running errands.

QUESTIONNAIRE

ANSWERS WHICH WILL SOLVE
PERPLEXING PROBLEMS OF THIS RECONSTRUCTION ERA.

Query.—The government has launched an educational campaign to encourage building in order to put more men to work. Would not a similar movement to show how the old structures can be best and most economically repaired and made good as new also help?

Answer.—It is learned that such a plan is in effect and is linked directly with the Washington propaganda.

Industry must be turned back from works of war to the ways of peace. Employment must be found, in the meanwhile, for those whose occupation has been interrupted. There is no real surplus of labor in the United States. Rather there is a shortage, which would be acute if normal conditions were already restored, and one step towards restoring them will come with resumption of repair work.

Government restrictions, imposed by the necessities of the war program, have for many months past retarded or altogether prevented construction, improvement and repairs. These restrictions are now off, and there is scarcely a town, a city, a factory, a dwelling or a farm that does not reveal a crying need for prompt attention. Nothing delays such instant action except the feeling that prices are high for the time being and may be lower.

That is not logical. No matter what it costs to repair, the cost is less than the cost of neglect. No matter what the cost of paint, the wind and the weather will collect a higher bill in deterioration and decay.

Query.—What do you think of paint as an investment, aside from the appearance it lends? Does it really PAY to paint a house regularly, say, every three or four years?

Answer.—Good paint properly applied when needed is the main thing in making a house last long and well. A house worth $2,500 can be painted at a cost of about $125. In 60 years that house will need about 15 paintings, the total cost of which will be $1,875. Left without paint, such a house would fall into complete ruin in 30 years. So taking 60 years as a basis for our figures we find that with paint a home will last that time in good condition and will cost, plus paint, $4,375. Without paint the house would have to be rebuilt at the end of 30 years and would be ready for another complete renovation when the sixtieth year arrived. Cost, without paint, $5,000 for a home ready to fall to pieces. Does regular painting pay? As the old Dutch adage says:

"PAINT PAYS FOR ITSELF."

Query.—I have a quantity of old paint on hand. Can I use it for the first coat in repainting my barn?

Answer.—On no account should old paint which has become fat be used for priming either old or new work. Old paint in that condition is best used on a fence, brickwork or tinwork. If you value your barn sufficiently to paint it, do it the justice of a good job.

U. S. Invents Anti-Rust "Dope."

Incident to the war, the government has faced the problem that has so long proved baffling to commercial concerns of protecting iron and steel from rust. In an attempt to solve this federal specialists have perfected various forms of protective coatings. In this connection it may be pertinent to ask whether commercial uses will not be found also for the so-called "dopes" which the government has invented to be applied to airplane wings and which are possessed of valuable weather-resisting and fireproof qualities.

EFFECT OF COLOR UPON THE DURABILITY OF PAINT.

Property owners who may have under consideration the painting of dwellings and other structures should remember that more durable results are obtained when tinted paints are used. Permanent coloring materials which have been ground by machine into a high grade white paint base have the effect of preventing "chalking" and "checking," two defects which are often observed when white paints are used.

TELLS OF THRILLS WHEN SHELLS FLY

MAN WHO SAW WAR ON FOUR FRONTS ESCAPES DEATH MANY TIMES WHILE SERVING SOLDIERS.

Chicago.—More than 700 Y. M. C. A. workers saw service with the soldiers of the American expeditionary force in the front lines during the last months of the war.

Frank M. Van Epps, seriously wounded while serving as a Y. M. C. A. worker in the Argonne, told of some of his experiences in a talk at the Y. M. C. A. college here:

On the way to France last April on the Oronzio, Van Epps and 55 other "Y" men narrowly escaped drowning when the ship was torpedoed by a German U-boat.

Van Epps was divisional secretary of the Y. M. C. A. outfit. He worked with the Fifth division until the armistice was signed. He was dressed up in a doughboy's uniform when he arrived here. A limp and a kitbag slung over his shoulder containing what is left of his equipment complete his souvenirs of more than six months' service overseas.

Van Epps saw the war on four fronts in France and Alsace, serving in the first-line trenches on two of them. When the Oronzio was torpedoed on April 29 60 miles off the coast of Wales U-boats "got" two out of a convoy of seven steamships. The Oronzio went down in 12 minutes after she was struck, and Van Epps and other "Y" men lost all their baggage. They were picked up by a torpedo-boat destroyer and landed at Holyhead, Wales.

In Front Line.

In southern and middle Alsace, Van Epps was in the first-line trenches and at St. Mihiel, when the drive opened, he became a stretcher bearer after his supplies ran out. Getting word to shift to the Argonne, he traveled all night by train, on trucks and afoot, and spent the next three weeks sleeping in shell holes and trenches when he was not at work.

At Madeleine farm, on October 18, Van Epps and Thomas F. Hadley of Iowa, another Y. M. C. A. man, set up shop in an old barn. All but three of the twenty-five "Y" workers went back to get supplies. The barn had been under shell fire for several days, but Van Epps and Hadley decided it was good enough to sleep in. They built a bed of boxes of jam, with a tub of chewing tobacco for a pillow and lay down.

Half a mile back, an American battery was hammering the Germans, and two German airplanes came over looking for the position. They let go two bombs which landed on each side of the barn. Soon came a third, which struck the roof, bringing down a mass of rafters and beams and scattering shrapnel. A splinter was driven through the calf of one of Hadley's legs and a piece of shell tore through both of Van Epps' thighs.

After dressing stations and field hospitals had finished with them they spent half a day in an ambulance and then were put aboard a French hospital train, where they remained another two days. One of these days was Sunday, so Van Epps, at the suggestion of some of the doughboys, "put on" a service, conducting it propped up in his stretcher.

Soldiers to Study.

Paris.—With the arrival of General Rees from Washington on detail from the war department to take charge of the army educational work, progress has been rapid along the lines laid down in the program submitted by the Y. M. C. A. army educational commission. Text books required to satisfy the demands of the men for instructions are coming overseas rapidly, according to Prof. John Erskine of Columbia university, chairman of the "Y" commission; post schools are starting up at the rate of 40 to a division and groups of officers and men are being absorbed by French and British universities to the limit of their capacity.

General Praises Y. M. C. A.

Paris.—There are some fools in the Y. M. C. A., according to Brig. Gen. J. P. O'Neill of the Ninetieth division. "Our Y. M. C. A. is everything to be desired," said the general. "Among the employees are some fools. One of them was such a fool that he would not stay away from the front line, and he got so tied up with Boche shells and other projectiles that we were forced to recommend him for a Distinguished Service Cross. That is a sample of the men you have sent to us. Please keep this work up and whether I am commanding this division or not, the things that you have done will make a lasting impression upon it."

Honor "Y" Worker in Russia.

News that the general commanding the American and allied expedition in northern Russia had recommended Howard B. Merrill of New York, a Y. M. C. A. worker, for suitable recognition of his cool behavior during a surprise attack on the forces he was serving, is conveyed in a delayed cablegram received at the Y. M. C. A. national war work council offices.

Plan Educational Courses.

English universities are preparing to welcome the American officers and men designated to take collegiate, special or post-graduate courses there in accordance with the scheme of the army educational commission conducted by the United States army and the American Y. M. C. A.

Jefferson Studied Plows

Thomas Jefferson evidently studied agriculture quite carefully. In writing to Mr. Sylvestre in July 1808, he had the following to say concerning a plow which had been sent him by the Society of the Seine.

"I have just received information that a plough addressed to me has arrived in New York. I shall with great pleasure attend to the construction and transmission to the Society of a plough with my mould-board. This is the only part of that useful instrument to which I have paid any particular attention. But knowing how much the perfection of the plough must depend, 1st, on the line of traction; 2nd, on the direction of the share; 3rd, on the angle of the wing; 4th, on the form of the mould-board; and persuaded that I shall find the three first advantages eminently exemplified in that which the Society sends me, I am anxious to see combined with these a mould-board of my form, in the hope it will still advance the perfection of that machine."

We Must Keep Faith.

The American people were unitedly and earnestly back of Uncle Sam in the world war. They proved it at every point. They imposed no restrictions. They offered freely their lives, their services, their money. All in a degree unprecedented in American history. No demand was refused. From every part of the country the response was immediate, forceful. No section slackened in any respect. Here and there there were individual slackers, but the cases were isolated, indifferently few. We were in effect unanimous.

America backed her ideals, her ambitions; stood for her rights, her honor, all that her forefathers had fought for and won.

And as we fought so must we finish. We must keep faith with Uncle Sam, with the world at large, with the boys who won over there, with American welfare that is even yet at stake.

For few of us will care to stand before these returned soldier boys and confess that our only interest was in coming out of the scrimmage on top. That our interest in them ended when they won. That now that they're back it is up to them to shift for themselves. That our responsibility is ended.

We owe a farther duty to America, a duty that is just as much to ourselves and our progeny. For America's future is keenly dependent upon the accomplishments of our industry and commercial enterprise within the next few years.

And upon conditions industrially and commercially depends the individual welfare of some 2,500,000 soldiers, returned or soon to return, who fought our battles and now must return to the ordinary business of life.

Both you and your country owe every one of these men a personal debt.

Keep faith with them. Help pay that debt. Help Uncle Sam pay it. Much can be done with the proceeds of the Victory Liberty Loan.

And if we take the loan Uncle Sam will do the rest.

We can take it if we will. It's up to us.

Up to us to keep the faith.

Our philosopher says: Every wash an' gully on your farm, that ain't stopped, tells the folks that pass on the road you're a poor farmer.

Why Suffer?

CARDUI

"In a few days, she began to improve," Mrs. Cox continues, "and had no trouble at... Cardui cured her, and we sing its praises everywhere." U. S. FIGHTING MEN WANTED A CHURCH

REPORT OF Y. M. C. A. IN CENTRAL MILITARY DEPARTMENT CONTAINS INTERESTING INFORMATION.

Chicago.—Uncle Sam's soldiers and sailors go to church. Figures showing attendance at religious services in Y. M. C. A. huts in military camps of the central department prove it.

Attendance at the religious meetings and Bible classes held in the huts between May 1, 1917, and December 31, 1918, was more than 5,280,000.

A. H. Lichty, executive secretary of the central department of the national war work council of the Y. M. C. A., has issued a report covering statistics of the Y. M. C. A. activities in the 131 huts in Central department camps. Mr. Lichty is in command of nearly 1,000 workers. Before coming to Chicago for war work he was secretary of the Ohio State Y. M. C. A. During his administration more than 2,500 men and women have been recruited in the 14 Central states for overseas service with the Y. M. C. A.

The number of letters written in huts in the 33 military camps totaled 62,708,410. The total attendance was 60,643,806.

Movies were the most popular feature of the "Y" service in the camps. The attendance at the 12,496 motion picture shows was 5,979,303, an average of more than 400.

The "Y" educational features were popular. In the 20 months 7,570 lectures were heard by 2,202,810 soldiers and sailors. The 68,272 classes of various kinds drew 1,394,418 and the 98 science and art clubs 62,530. For the American Library association the "Y" passed out 1,423,668 books.

Athletics Popular.

The number of participants in athletic contests under the direction of the "Y" was greater than the number of spectators. There were 5,398,259 in the contests and 4,437,017 "looking on."

The 902 workers in the 181 huts in the army and navy camps and the 18 S. A. T. C. units passed out to America's fighting men 510,432 Scriptures. There were 282,229 personal interviews on the subject of religion; 52,754 decisions to accept the Christian faith and 117,770 signed the "war roll" pledging themselves to a Christian life.

The 17,361 entertainments not including movies, drew 6,731,646 soldiers and sailors.

Y. M. C. A. NO LONGER TO MAINTAIN ARMY POST EXCHANGES.

Paris.—The American Y. M. C. A., at its own request, has been relieved of its work of maintaining the post exchanges with the American army. Correspondence exchanged between General Pershing and E. C. Carter, in charge of Y. M. C. A. with the army, shows the reason for this arrangement was that the Y. M. C. A. now has "increased responsibilities in promoting educational, athletic and entertainment activities in the American expeditionary forces," thus placing a rapidly increasing burden on its personnel.

General Pershing in a letter to Mr. Carter approving the change, expressed his thanks "for the very valuable services and assistance which the Y. M. C. A. has rendered to the American expeditionary force in handling these exchanges. General Pershing added:

"Handicapped by the shortage of tonnage and land transportation, the Y. M. C. A. has by extra exertion served the army better than could have been expected, and you may be assured that its aid has been a large factor in the final great accomplishments of the American army."

Couldn't Risk It.

A good story is told of General Glascock of Georgia. When the latter was, 70 years ago, elected a representative, a friend asked: "General, may I introduce you to Henry Clay?" "No, sir," was the prompt response; "I am his adversary, and choose not to subject myself to his fascination."

Sympathy as a Fine Art.

Sympathy is one of the fine arts. It should enrich, not impoverish; strengthen, not weaken; inspire while comforting. It is easy enough to say you are sorry. It is easy to grieve with one friend over his trouble and pity him for his mishaps. But the sympathy which is a fine art does not encourage one to give way to despair. It stimulates. It puts hope in place of heartache. It points on and up. Do not let your friend with the sympathy which will make him feel like pitying himself.

Perfume in the Early Ages.

From the very earliest ages man has loved sweet odors. In the Bible we read of the burning of incense on the altars and the very word perfumery (under which head we may include all delicate fumes or smells) comes from the Latin fumus, smoke or vapor. The early Egyptians knew the use of the still, and adapted it to the separation of the odorous principle from fragrant plants, but the most ancient odors were drawn from natural gums, such as camphor, myrrh and cinnamon.

Sea Level.

Sea level in the scientific sense means theoretical mean or average from which elevations or depressions on the earth are calculated. The coast and geodetic survey, which is government authority on such subjects, says: "Mean sea level may be defined as the surface which would be assumed by the water of the oceans at rest if there were no action by the wind or by the tides due to the attraction of the moon and sun. The sea level surface is at all points a right angle to a free-swinging plummet."

Skirts are plain and long, reaching nearly to the instep, and coats challenge admiration by such well balanced lines as appear in this trim model of blue men's wear serge shown above.

In Argentina the cultivation of broom corn is conducted along simple lines not differing much from that of ordinary corn. SPRING, HARVEST SEASON OF THE SHEEP RAISER, DEMANDS ATTENTION TO ANIMALS

Member of a Boys' Sheep Club With His Thriving Flock.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Many new flocks of sheep were established in the farming states last year, and this spring their owners will for the first time experience the lambing and shearing season. Spring, which is the lambing and shearing season, is the harvest period of the sheep raiser, say specialists of the United States department of agriculture, and the size and quality of these crops determine the profits. At this time extra attention should be given to the ewes and lambs. In no other way can time be used to better advantage on the farm.

If the ewes have not been properly fed and cared for during the fall and winter, the crops of lambs and wool can be neither large nor of high quality. It is the weak, thin ewes that require most attention in the lambing season, though previous mistakes cannot be remedied at that time. On the other hand, failure to be constantly nearby while the lambs are arriving may mean the raising of only an 80 or 90 per cent crop of lambs where a 125 per cent increase—considering that many ewes will have twins—can readily be realized from good shepherding of flocks of mutton quality.

Advantages of Early Lambing.
In many sections it is most profitable to have lambs arrive in March or even earlier. One important advantage of this plan is that other work is then less urgent and full attention can be given to the ewes and the new arrivals. Another advantage gained by early lambing is that the lambs can be made sufficiently heavy and fat to market in June or July. Early marketing usually means higher prices, and it is especially desirable because the lambs are disposed of before the time of greater danger of injury by internal parasites. The ewe lambs are stronger than those which arrived later in the season and are, therefore, kept for the breeding flock. They are less susceptible to injury caused by parasites, which is most serious in warm, damp periods of July or August.

Care of Weak Lambs.

The lamb that is born strong and vigorous, with a good dam, will need little care. Prompt attention given to the weak lamb immediately upon its arrival will frequently result in saving its life. In cold weather lambs should be wrapped in hot flannel cloths to prevent chilling, which may result in their death, and the cloths should be renewed as often as is necessary to keep the young animals warm. Milk should be given freely and the lamb returned to the ewe as soon as it is strong enough. Sometimes it may be necessary to feed the lamb with an infant's nursing bottle, giving a few teaspoonfuls of milk every hour for a few hours until it is strong enough to nurse without assistance.

If lambs are to be sold at three to five months of age they may run with their dams until that time. The lambs kept for breeding purposes should be weaned at the same time and put on fresh pastures where there is no danger of stomach worms. Where the weaning is done at this time the ewes can be put in better condition for the fall breeding. When lambs are to be kept on the farm, the best method of weaning is to leave them on the old pasture for three or four days, removing the ewes to a scanty pasture to check their milk flow. As soon as the lambs cease fretting for their dams they may be removed to fresh pastures. Ewes with large udders should be partially milked once every three days until they go dry.

Details on the care of the flock during the lambing season are given in Farmers' Bulletin 840, "Farm Sheep Raising for Beginners," copies of which can be had, so long as the supply lasts, by applying to the United States department of agriculture, Washington.

EXCELLENT PLAN TO HARVEST WOOL CROP

Avoid Chilling Ewes by Shearing on a Warm Day.

Hand-Power Machines Are Most Economical for Flocks of Less Than Fifty Head—Paper Twine Is Most Satisfactory.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Sheep shearing is usually done in late spring after the lambing season. The work should be performed on a warm day, so that the ewes may not become chilled. For flocks of less than fifty head, hand-power machines are the most economical. These machines are more rapid, produce smoother work, injure the sheep less, are more easily handled, and result in a larger crop than where hand shears are used.

After the fleece has been removed all tags and dirt should be cleaned out of it and it should be rolled up, not too tightly, the skin side out, and tied with paper twine. The value of the wool crop is often impaired by the use of binder twine in tying up fleeces. Anything is superior to binder twine, and paper twine is most satisfactory. Boxes for tying fleeces are not necessary; in fact wool shows better if not tied too tightly.

Farmers in New York and other states have profited largely by co-operative marketing of their wool. Under the direction of the county agent the clips are assembled, graded, and sold in large quantities at the prices prevailing at the principal markets. In the past these prices were materially higher than the "general" local prices obtained.

HOG "AUCTION" SALES BEST

Praises of New Method Sung These Days by California Marketing Association.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The praises of the hog auction are sung these days by the California Farm Bureau Marketing association, which comprises the marketing department of the farm bureaus in King, Tulare and Kern counties. The prices are said to be much better than when hogs are sold by the old method. The auction sales have also taught the farmers the importance of raising better hogs, as they have seen that packers give grain-fattened hogs the preference over those fattened on skimmed milk and alfalfa pasture alone.

ONE BREED IN COMMUNITY

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It is highly advantageous for all or most of the farms in a neighborhood to keep the same breed of sheep. After a decision has been made as to a suitable breed, the aim should be to obtain ewes that are individually good and that have as many crosses as possible of the breed selected. With such a foundation and the continuous use of good pure-bred rams of the same breed, the flock will make steady improvement.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Have a warm place ready for the cold-weather pigs.

Beet tops can be fed with the least expense direct from the field.

Buttermilk is a splendid feed for both pregnant and suckling sows.

There is no grain equal to corn in putting the finish on fattening animals.

The tougher and drier the roughage the more and the more costly the concentrates needed.

If you wish your pigs to grow as rapidly as possible, use a liberal feed of corn and skim milk.

Size in live stock is secondary to quick growth and ease with which finishing may be put on.

Feed silage to calves as soon as they will eat it, picking out for them the leafy portions at first.

It can be stated in a general way that too much protein in a ration is not good for the health of any animal.

Pure-bred stock long ago ceased to be merely a fad. The quality of farm animals is an all-important factor in success.

Corn and all the tankage the hogs would eat makes a good self-feed ration for hogs that are being grown for market purposes.

Silage and alfalfa or clover hay make a balanced ration and wonderful results have been obtained from these two feeds alone.

Apropos Of Bohemian Oats.

With the average farmer's bankroll just a little fatter than it has been in years he is the shining mark just now for the fake security salesman, the stock company promoter, the multitudinous sharper.

All of which recalls the famous incident of the Bohemian oats.

Ohio farmers of the older generation will recall it instantly. Some of them have fallen for it as they may be doing even now with these later offerings.

Bohemian oats were represented as world beaters for quality and prolific production. Especially suited for oat meals and rolled oats, which then were just coming into popularity as breakfast foods.

But the trouble was, according to the shapers, there was no supply.

So they sold seed oats to the farmers at $10. a bushel and agreed to buy their entire crop at harvest time at the same price.

And the farmers fell for it. Bought oats and planted acres of them.

But when harvest time came the sharper failed to show up. And the farmers found they had raised a very ordinary grade of oats which they might have bought on the market for seeding purposes at 40 cents a bushel.

Most of the stocks being offered to the farmer today are in a par with the Bohemian oats.

The one always dependable purchase is a government bond.

And shortly the Victory Liberty Loan will offer you a safe investment.

When harvest time comes round it always produces. There is no defaulting of payment. No risk. No gamble. The business behind it is established and wholly solvent. And the earning it insures is eminently fair.

Don't sink your money in modernized Bohemian oats.

The old fashioned proved standards are best.

FEEL MISERABLE FROM THAT COLD?

Colds and coughs are quickly relieved by Dr. King's New Discovery

Nobody should feel "perfectly miserable" from a cold, cough or bronchial attack for very long. For it takes only a little while to relieve it and get back on the road to recovery when Dr. King's New Discovery is faithfully used. It soon loosens the phlegm, relieves irritation, soothes the parched, sore throat, brings comfort.

Half a century old and more popular today than ever. At all druggists.

Make Your Bowels Behave

Make them function with gratifying precision. If regulation of the diet does not relieve their torpidity Dr. King's New Life Pills will. They are perfect bowel trainers, cleanse the system surely, comfortably.

TELL IT TO HIM.

Probably you are worrying about just what excuse you are going to offer the Victory Liberty Loan salesman this campaign in refusing to give him your subscription. Maybe you have several excuses but simply cannot make up your mind which of them is best.

Don't let it worry you for an instant.

The country is full of soldiers just back from the front. Thousands of them are coming back every week. Some of them are pretty well shot up, suffering from shell shock, weak lunged from having been gassed, still shaky from trench fever, or minus an arm or a leg or an eye.

They know what this war game was. They saw something of what the Hun did for France and Belgium. They have something of an idea what he would have tried to do for America had he ever got over here.

And they would like to know, doubtless, just why any loyal American will refuse to subscribe to the Victory Liberty Loan, knowing that the American soldier wrote the death warrant for Prussianism and how he fared in doing it.

This armless, or legless, or sightless or lungless or nerveless returned Yank will be glad to listen to your excuse.

Hunt him up and tell it to him. Try all of them on him.

If you can convince him you should have no trouble with the salesman.

And if you escape with a whole skin you'll subscribe to the loan. Believe me, boy, you'll subscribe.

FIFTH LOAN 'STUNTS' WILL FEATURE TANKS, TRAINS AND AVIATORS

TROPHY EXHIBITS WHICH WERE SO POPULAR IN FOURTH DRIVE COMING AGAIN.

DON'T stow away your rattles and horns and noise-makers. The Victory Loan is going to bring with it just as many occasions for a big time as any of the foregoing drives.

The trophy trains—bigger, better, equipped and scheduled for longer stops in each town—are to tour the district again. One of them will stop in your town or near enough to it so that you can get to it.

Air circuses will perform over a great many of the cities and among the planes to take part are a number of German Fokkers.

And best of all there will be a fleet of tanks. These tanks, regulation whippets, will be routed over the district singly so that practically all of the territory will be covered. The War Department is furnishing the tanks and tank crews and there are no stunts which these mighty crawlers cannot perform under the guidance of the fearless drivers who will take them out.

Music? Yes, indeed. There will be two or three bands on tour in the district. Arrangements have been made for service bands from the army and the navy.

Civilians to Get Medals for Work In Victory Loan

If one of these is awarded to you will your conscience be clear?

Every volunteer Liberty Loan worker who participates in the campaign for the sale of the Victory Liberty Loan, which is to begin April 21, will be given a medal made from one of the German cannon captured by the Yanks in the Chateau Thierry drive.

The medal will be about the size of a half dollar. The front side of it, depicted in the accompanying cut, will bear the inscription "Victory Liberty Loan" and a reproduction of the Treasury Department building at Washington.

On the reserve side will be engraved the government's acknowledgment of the service performed and a space will be left so that the recipient may have his or her name engraved.

The medal will be the first of its kind ever distributed by the government to civilians. The plan was decided upon after an almost unanimous demand had been received from workers over the country for some permanent souvenir of their patriotic cooperation.

Several German cannon, brought over with returning Yanks, have been melted, rolled and are being stamped out to adorn the lapels of the civilian army.

Let's!

Now guns are rusting,
No more the legions smash,
The weed springs in the dugout,
The battle fire is ash.
So hats off to the doughboy,
And hats off to the gob,
The Victory Loan is coming,
Let's finish up the job!

Trade Commission Chases Bond Scalper to His Lair

The Federal Trade Commission has taken further steps toward protecting holders of Liberty Bonds from fraudulent stock promotion schemes. Searching questionnaires have been sent to many firms whose literature has been turned over to the commission for examination.

The questionnaires contain 32 questions, bearing on the amount of promotion, stock and sums actually invested and the corporation's organization plans, properties and financial conditions. The information is called for at once, attention being directed to the penalties attached for failure to do so.

THE MOST DANGEROUS DISEASE

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pains in the back—take up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

Race of Boat Builders.
The Irish from time immemorial have been boat builders, although the west coast mackerel fishermen, or the hake coast to the south, or the haddock fisheries on the southeast must be visited to understand the real ingenuity of the Irish native boat builder. In a large way Belfast represents the high development of the shipbuilding industry.

Cleanliness Necessary.
When our daughter was six years old she was taken to see her first vaudeville performance. ABANDONED WESTERN OIL FIELDS FOR RICHER PROMISE IN ZINC ORE

Organization of the Louisville Mansfield Zinc & Lead Syndicate Reveals Business Romance

Dr. T. T. Beeler, Dentist, Then Oil Magnate, Sold Interest in 157 Wells for Bigger Prospects.

Louisville, Ky.—How a business romance, blossoming in the bosom of Mother Earth, led the way to a dream of affluence that is fast materializing, is brought out in the organization here of the Louisville Lead & Zinc Syndicate Company, a corporation the stock of which rapidly is becoming the property of the public. That it is not a romance of the oil fields will be a matter of surprise to those who look largely to the oil well as the fountain of business romance.

Formation of the Louisville Mansfield Lead & Zinc Syndicate follows closely upon organization of the Kentucky Mansfield Lead & Zinc Syndicate, a corporation already on an operating and dividend-paying basis, but the romance goes back eleven years to the oil fields of the west and to a dentist's chair in a small Oklahoma town.

Dr. T. T. Beeler.

In a suite of offices in the Starks Building a small keen-eyed man, trying to make every minute yield its quota of result of an atmosphere of high pressure, knows all about the romance, for he had lived it. He is Dr. T. T. Beeler, vice president of the new LOUISVILLE MANSFIELD LEAD & ZINC SYNDICATE. He is the man who, eleven years ago, while a practicing dentist in an Oklahoma town, became interested in western oil development. With holdings in 157 oil wells after he had become successful in that game, Dr. Beeler had wide opportunities to observe the possibilities and exigencies of that business, or game, as it may rightly be called. He saw men carried up into the realm of sudden riches; he saw hopes fulfilled beyond their own limits. But he saw the other side, too, of the oil game—its uncertainty, and the ruin that this uncertainty brought to some.

One day Dr. Beeler heard about the strike made in the famous Joplin zinc ore district. He began studying the possibilities of the new found opportunity. He reflected that in the oil business, when a well was drilled, no mortal could with certainty tell which of four things would be the result—oil, water, gas or a hole in the ground. He reflected that an oil well, drilled from 1,100 to 3,300 feet in the ground, cost from $5,000 to $30,000 before its real promise was known. And then he compared this with data he had gathered about the mining industry, in which nature's store of wealth lies comparatively close to the surface and covers great areas, necessitating, in proportion, a small initial outlay. He applied this comparison particularly to what he had heard about the Joplin-Mansfield fields.

Dr. Beeler was not long in making up his mind. It was two years ago in Kansas City that the project, which is now being carried to every state in the Union, had its inception. Dr. Beeler had selected a partner, severed his connections with the oil fields, and had employed an agent, versed in the technique of such an undertaking, to investigate opportunities in the Joplin district.

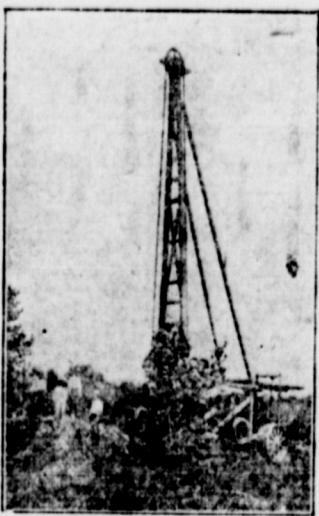

But it was by chance that the real opportunity was found. One day, when Dr. Beeler's emissary was fruitlessly bickering with people in the field to which prospectors were already swarming, an old man called him aside.

"If you want to see an unworked locality, I want to show you something," said the old man.

As the result of the investigation and assaying which followed, Dr. Beeler, his partner and several notaries, in all of the public automobiles the nearby town afforded, set out in the late afternoon in what is now the Mansfield district. The chauffeurs and the notaries and all others with whom the party came in contact were bound to secrecy. There were neither automobiles nor notaries available for other possible prospectors.

That was October 16, 1917. In a day or so, the prospectors had secured leases on 18,000 acres of land rich in ore, and had laid the foundation of the project which is now becoming nation-wide. They know that by taking the ore from slight excavations at given points over a given area, that the findings of an expert assayer-geologist would give them the exact extent of wealth which the establishment of a mine would produce. Unlike the mere promise of an oil well, the potentialities of a zinc field could be scientifically established. Their reports were secured from A. Arnold, State geologist of Missouri, and Joseph Metcalfe, a London mineralogist and engineer, and showed that tests had proved the expectations of the prospectors.

These geological reports bear out to a large extent a theory which later became current as to the origin of the rich mineral products around Mansfield, Mo. According to this theory, Mansfield, one of the highest points in the district, is the site of a prehistoric volcano. The purest ore is found closest to this center, while the adulterated deposits are found as the distance becomes greater.

Once he had secured rights to the land, Dr. Beeler's plan became known and soon the district was a bee hive of fortune-hunters. But all of the promising land in the vicinity had been leased by Dr. Beeler and his associates and they were ready to launch their project.

Their scheme of operation calls ultimately for the organization of local companies in each of the forty-five counties. Each of these corporations will be granted concessions around the reserved portion of the leases which the parent corporation will hold and which will be enhanced in value with the growing activity surrounding it.

The Kentucky Mansfield Lead & Zinc Syndicate was incorporated June 13, 1918. Its capital stock of $100,000 was quickly sold out. On November 1 it bought its first mill, which soon began operations on the ground, and on February 1 a 2% dividend for January was paid stockholders, following which was paid a 3% dividend for February.

The Kentucky syndicate is made up almost entirely of Kentucky men. Dr. T. M. Crutcher, of Louisville, head of the Louisville Dental Laboratory, is president, and N. C. Cureton is secretary. W. E. Newbold, of Louisville, is treasurer. Edward J. McDermott, of Louisville, is the corporation's attorney. Dr. Beeler is one of the directors, as is also Dr. Charles A. Funk.

The officers of the LOUISVILLE MANSFIELD LEAD & ZINC SYNDICATE, which was formed February 21, 1918, are the same as those of the Kentucky syndicate except that Dr. Beeler is vice president and J. C. Mahon, well known Louisville business man, is a director. Over half of the capital stock of $500,000 already has been sold. Offices of the company are at 409 Starks Bldg., Louisville.

The stock is being put out at $1.00 (par value) per share.

The company's property is in the heart of the Ozark Mountains, Wright County, Mo. One forty-acre tract is located between two mills, those of the Kentucky syndicate, known as the "Pioneer Mill," and of W. E. Caldwell, of Louisville, known as the "Red-bird Mill." This tract is considered one of the best in the district although three other forty-acre tracts are well located and partly tested.

So, as the new LOUISVILLE MANSFIELD LEAD & ZINC SYNDICATE starts its wheels a-whirling, the business romance of the poor dentist is carried farther along its way to the pocket-books and bank accounts of shrewd investors the country over.

Our philosopher says: Lots of times a pasture is a piece of land, that won't grow grass, with a pretty good fence around it.

Rotarians Honor

Youths.

The biggest day in Owensboro, at least from the standpoint of the farm boys and girls, was March 12th, 1919. Forty-five club members were entertained at a banquet by the Rotary Club and presented with certificates of merit by the College of Agriculture.

Two hundred club members were enrolled in Daviess County last year. Sixty of them won certificates of merit.

At the banquet each Rotarian entertained one club member. After the delicacies had been disposed of, each Rotarian introduced the club member who happened to be his particular guest, at the same time announcing the accomplishments of the boy or girl in the agricultural club.

Much enthusiasm was aroused by this particular phase of the program and the ceremony was frequently interrupted with applause which reached its height at the introduction of five sisters, all of whom raised poultry. Following an address by a representative of the College of Agriculture and the county agent, the certificates of merit were presented.

It was a great get-together meeting not only for the boys but also for the Rotarians who formerly knew very little of the work being done in Daviess County by their county agent in promoting Boys' and Girls' Agricultural Clubs. The Rotarians pledged themselves to make this banquet an annual affair. Arrangements were also completed whereby the winners in the various projects of the club next year will be presented with bronze medals.

Plan For The Drouth.

Farmers, who handle cattle, and dairymen, who milk cows, always dread the late summer drouth. At such times exquisitely green pastures become brown and stock of all kinds suffer for want of fresh green food. Those farmers that have silos for winter feeding can provide for the drouth quite easily. Summer silage is being used more generally each season and several kinds of silage can be grown.

The Experiment Station at Lexington, Ky., has used summer silage to very great advantage. For two years rye was cut and made into silage; but it was more costly to handle than corn. If an extra amount of silage were put up each autumn it could be carried over. Even an empty silo this spring could be partly filled by growing a few acres of some extra early corn which would mature ahead of the drouth.

Heed the Warning Of Authority!

"Make Your Dollars Have More Cents"

Stock Now $1.00

¶ We're away over the $200,000 mark! We've received checks for stock from States as distant as New York and Texas! ¶ Investors are judging the value of the stock of the Louisville Mansfield Lead and Zinc Company by the record of the Kentucky Mansfield Lead and Zinc Syndicate. That company, already in operation, paid a monthly dividend of 2% in January and 3% in February. The officers and directors of both companies are chiefly the same gentlemen and the newer company has been organized to do just what the other is doing but on a larger scale. ¶ Its holdings are greater, consisting of four tracts of 40 acres each in the Mansfield District, right where the Mother Lode of the great Ozark Lead and Zinc fields comes nearest the surface. We've proven our holdings by drilling. We're already sinking the first shaft for our first mill!

WOUNDED BY SHELL THAT KILLED FOUR MEN

Under shell fire and gas for three weeks, the buildings in which he ran his canteen hit six times, and finally knocked out by a shell which killed four men, wounded thirty and put him in a hospital for two months, Guy A. Willis, a Grand Rapids, Mich., lumberman, has returned on crutches from France, evidence of the zeal with which Y. M. C. A. canteen men worked with the troops in the St. Mihiel and Argonne drives.

Willis was attached to the Three Hundred and Fifty-fifth regiment, Eighty-ninth division. In the Toul sector, which the division held until the St. Mihiel drive began, Willis' Y. M. C. A. outfit had a canteen near Mont Sec, at Beaumont, and one of his pleasant jobs was to drive almost daily around the famous Dead Man's curve on trips to get supplies for his canteen. Willis entered Benny, in the St. Mihiel drive, three hours after the Germans had been thrown out of it.

French Tribute to "Y."

John R. Mott, general secretary of national war work council of the Y. M. C. A., has been made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

SIXTY-THREE "Y" MEN DECORATED

Chicago.—The Y. M. C. A. carried the Red Triangle into the camps and trenches abroad at a cost of 53 lives, a sacrifice proportionately one-quarter as great as that in the American army, according to a statement issued by the national war work council of the Y. M. C. A. Of these fatalities 35 were due to disease, and the remainder to shell-fire, bombs, gas-fever, drowning and wounds. Ten of these were women, one of whom was killed by shell fire and the others in a German air raid.

There were also 55 non-fatal casualties. These were due principally to machine gun fire, shell fire, and motor transport accidents. Numerous cases of slight wounds and gasings which were attended at dressing stations, but were not reported to headquarters, are not included.

These casualties occurred in a force which at no time exceeded 9,000 workers, of whom it is reckoned that more than one-half were never sent to the front, being employed in the hundreds of huts maintained throughout the training areas and the "leave areas."

Sixty-three "Y" workers were decorated, while in all more than 152 received official recognition for distinguished service. Thirteen of these were decorated with the Croix de Guerre, while 48 received other decorations. Of these, three received the Distinguished Service Cross, three the Order of St. Stanislaus, five the Italian Cavaliere del Corona, 38 the Italian War Cross, and one the French decoration of the Corps d'Armee. Seven were cited for the Croix de Guerre, and seven for other decorations, six commended for meritorious conduct, and twenty-nine received honorable mention in dispatches. Several units were cited in their entirety, those serving with the Third division being cited twice. More than a score more reported decorations have not yet been confirmed.

Not one of these men under thirty was fit for military duty, but the citations show that they carried on with the same courage and spirit that identified Americans throughout the war. These records show that they went over the top with the assaulting waves, that they exposed themselves under machine gun and shell fire to minister to the wounded, that they worked indefatigably as stretcher bearers, and that they drove ambulances into the midst of battle to rescue the wounded.

A New Shock for the British.

London.—The American soldier's capacity for chocolate is a never-ending source of wonder to Britishers, a wonder that has just been given a new stimulus by a contract the Y. M. C. A. has closed to take over a plant and manufacture chocolates—300 tons of chocolates a month.

ELEGANCE IN SPRING SUITS

The youthful and chic suit shown here will interest those who are looking for novelty. Taking advantage of several privileges offered by spring styles, it has assembled straight lines, flaring sleeves, crisscross tucks and rows of buttons in a charming model made of beige-colored, smooth-faced cloth. Except for diagonal, slit pockets, set in at each side, the skirt is quite plain, bearing out the elegance which the designer had in mind and executed so well. The coat has slashed seams forming five panels, two at the front, one at each side and one at the back. Each front panel is decorated with a row of buttons, and the side panels have beautifully crown-bar tucks as a finish at the bottom.

FOR SUMMER AFTERNOONS

For summertime and afternoons, here is a frock which may be worn with assurance on the promenade or anywhere else. Any of the sheer materials—georgette, voile, lawn, organdy, will serve to make it. Its new style features are apparent in the wide hem and girdle, the round neck and deep cuffs. A simple and smart braiding on the front of the blouse contributes to its success with just the right amount of decoration.

TO CROWN YOUTHFUL HEADS

Pictureque is the word best describing the lovely millinery with which this year's debutante is destined to crown her youthful head. Everything in beautiful millinery materials is available for her—ribbons, flowers, braids, laces—and all fabrics in flower-like colors. How effectively they are used may be gathered from the hats pictured here. At the top there is a lovely hat of tulle and piping braid trimmed with a wreath of wheat and field flowers that is like a song of summer. Below it a pretty hat of tulle, with frayed flounces about the brim, is lovely in marie with a band of bright embroidery in the crown. The last hat is of hair braid overlaid with bands of narrow ribbon joined by stitches of embroidery silk.

We Want You to Ride

Thousands Praise this New Car

In the Essex

The Essex is being advertised by what people say who have tried it—not by what we claimed. That is why we ask you to ride in the Essex and see for yourself what this car will do.

The qualities in the Essex which appeal most are those very qualities that are most attractive in the light, cheap car and those of the large, costly one. They are comfort, riding ease, endurance, and elegance at a moderate cost for purchase and operation.

Ask any motorist what he thinks about the Essex. His answer is sure to be more enthusiastic than anything we have said. We have tempered all our claims. We knew how strongly the Essex would speak for itself.

Every Essex Sales Room Now Holds Motordom's Interest

Essex popularity is not limited to any one city or locality.

People instantly admire its beauty. They speak of the detail and care with which it is finished. They note its lines and talk of features they have never seen on any but costly cars. Such are their observations.

But their real enthusiasm comes when they return from a test ride. They are not prepared for such easy riding qualities over rough cobblestone streets and worn-out pavements. The Essex does not pitch its passengers about. It remains rigid and firm and free from rattles and squeaks no matter how rough the service.

The Essex is demonstrated on the boggy hills used to prove climbing ability by high-powered and costly cars. Speed is shown over the same course that fast cars are demonstrated. Passengers are told to hold their watches on the speedometer to note the quickness of Essex acceleration.

These are things you will observe when you ride in the Essex. We will arrange for a driving appointment at your convenience if you will let us know.

Nearly A Realization.

A few years ago when the hosts of the Christian Endeavor said: "A dry American by 1920" we who were older shook our heads, and sighed that it was impossible. But now we stand on the mountain top of realization.

We have the Eighteenth Amendment because temperance organizations, churches, business concerns have witnessed as to the evils of intemperance, and as to the benefits of Prohibition.

Possibly the greatest impetus that we can give to World Prohibition as a nation, is to demonstrate to the on-looking nations how a great country can free herself legally, and actually from the League power.

We have been lifted up in the eyes of the nations through the part we have played in the great World War. Now they will watch us grow strong, and stronger as we abolish the blighting rum curse.

NOVEL SILKS IN SKIRTS

A new and fascinating chapter in the story of separate skirts has been offered by the employment of wonderful new weaves in silk for making them. The knitted weaves, in plain and mixed colors, heavy and very brilliant satins, tricolettes, are all produced in beautiful patterns of one or two colors showing huge checks, cross-bars, plaids and mixtures. In the picture a blue and white, in a rough weave with brilliant luster, makes a skirt of utmost elegance.

Patents who have, upon advice of their dentist, faithfully followed this principle of Efficiency Dentistry, have very few filled teeth and have never had a tooth ache. They have likewise always been at high nerve force so far as their teeth are concerned. The dentist eventually gets the patient, but what about the energy and health of the patient in the meantime? The dentist is consulted so late and the decay has gone so far that it means a large filling, a withdrawal of the tooth, restoration of some kind, an artificial tooth, crown or bridgework. This calamity is all saved by Efficiency Dentistry, and the nerve energy for work or pleasure also conserved. Let your dentist put your name on his list of patients for periodical prophylaxis, with a full understanding of the principles involved. When you are in possession of the facts regarding the advantages of periodical prophylaxis by the dentist as outlined in this article, you are in position to apply the logic of it for yourself.

Efficiency Dentistry by Zero System through periodical prophylaxis by your dentist is your Tooth Insurance. Efficiency Dentistry decay-proofs your teeth. Decay-proof your teeth now so you will not have a "toothless day".

Let Action Follow Thought.
 A philosopher once said that there is no value to any thought, no matter how fine or noble, unless it is transformed into action. If you feel uplifted by beautiful music, do something that will tally with your mood, and then the music has been worth while. If you read something that is inspiring, at once do something, no matter how small, that is a little different and a little superior to your routine. The theory applies with equal truth to the reading of books as more than a pastime.—Chicago American.

KEEP YOUNG CHICKS GROWING BY USING FEEDING SCHEDULE GIVING BEST GAINS

Starting at the Bottom to Learn the Chicken Business.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Every poultry raiser wants his chicks to grow fast whether he plans to get them on an early market or to develop profitable layers. Early hatching is one of the first steps in this direction, but the next, which is of equal importance, is proper feeding. Undoubtedly chicks will grow faster when fed five times daily than when fed only three times daily, say poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture, but it should be borne in mind that more harm can be done to the young chicks by over-feeding than by under-feeding. Young chicks should be fed not more than barely enough to satisfy their appetites and to keep them exercising, except at the evening or last meal, when they should be given all they care to eat. Greater care must be exercised not to over-feed young chickens that are confined than those that have free range, as leg weakness is likely to result.

Chicks' First Meals.

Inexperienced poultry raisers are tempted to feed chicks immediately after they are hatched, but this should not be done. No feed should be given before the chicks are thirty-six or forty-eight hours old. During the first week feed them stale bread, pinhead oatmeal, rolled oats, hard-boiled eggs, or Johnnycake. Crumbly, but not sloppy mash, made by mixing with milk, are considered valuable. During the second week add cracked wheat, finely cracked corn and hulled oats to the chicks' ration.

After the chicks are ten days old a good growing mash, composed of two parts by weight of bran, two parts middlings, one part cornmeal, one part low-grade wheat flour or red-dog middlings, and ten per cent beef scrap, may be placed in a hopper and left before them all the time. The mash may be fed either wet or dry; if wet, only enough moisture (either milk or water) should be added to make the feed crumbly. If this moisture is not used a hopper containing bran should be accessible to the chickens at all times.

After the chicks are two months old they may be fed four times daily, with good results. When they are three months old three feedings a day are enough.

Hoppers for Feeding Chicks.

As soon as the chickens will eat the whole wheat, cracked corn, and other grains—usually in about eight weeks—the small-sized chick feed can be eliminated. In addition to the above feeds sour milk, skim milk, or buttermilk will hasten the chicks' growth. Growing chicks kept on a good range may be given all their feed in a hopper, mixing two parts by weight of cracked corn with one part of wheat, or equal parts of cracked corn, wheat, and oats in one hopper and the dry mash for chickens in another.

The beef scrap may be left out of the dry mash and fed in a separate hopper, so that the chickens can eat all of this feed they desire. If the beef scrap is to be fed separately, it is advisable to wait until the chicks are ten days old, although some poultrymen put the beef scrap before the young chickens at the start without bad results.

Chickens confined to small yards should always be supplied with green feed, such as lettuce, sprouted oats, alfalfa, or clover, but the best place to raise chickens successfully is on a good range where no extra green feed is required. Where the chickens are kept in small bare yards, fine charcoal, grit, and oyster shell should be kept before them all of the time, and cracked or ground bone may be fed. The bone is not necessary for chickens that have a good range.

YOUNG CHICKS MUST HAVE GOOD SHELTER

No Particular Style of House Is to Be Recommended.

It Should Provide Ample Ventilation, Dryness, Sunlight, Freedom From Drafts and Can Easily Be Cleaned—Avoid Crowding.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Growing chicks should be provided with a house that will give them a place to stay in bad weather and at night. No particular style of house is recommended, but it should be so built that it will provide ample ventilation, dryness, sunlight, freedom from drafts, and be so arranged that it can be cleaned easily and frequently.

The lumber from piano and dry-goods boxes can be used in building such a house, and when covered with ordinary roofing paper so as to keep out the rain, will make desirable quarters. It is suggested that such houses be built on the colony plan, so that they can be moved from place to place, thus providing the chicks with fresh ground to range over. Elevating such a house six inches above the ground will help to keep the floor dry, by means of the circulation of air, and such space will also provide shade for the chicks.

In placing the chicks in their growing house for the first time, it is best to confine them for several days by erecting a temporary yard wherein they can run for five or six days until they learn where to return when the fence is removed and they are allowed their liberty. Care should be taken not to crowd the chicks by placing too many in any one house. When the chickens cover the greater part of the floor at night, it is an indication that they are too crowded. At such a time they should be thinned out and placed in another house.

TO MAKE EGGS PROFITABLE

Hens Must Be Provided With a Variety of Grain, Some Meat, and Constant Supply of Water.

Do not forget that to make eggs in profitable numbers the hens need a variety of grain, some meat feed, some green feed, grit, charcoal and shells, and a constant supply of clean water.

POULTRY NOTES

Fresh air is one of the essentials in poultry houses.

Early hatching means well-matured pullets which begin to lay in the fall.

Gradually poultry breeding is becoming more like live stock breeding.

Don't use any except strong, vigorous males to head the breeding pens this season.

The egg with a dirty shell is one of the most objectionable factors of the egg industry.

It is a serious mistake to cross and mix the breeds. There is no place for the mongrel fowl.

The comb of a good layer is pliable and warm, usually well colored and of a soft, velvety texture.

It pays to padlock the poultry house every night and know how many birds are supposed to roost there.

Pack the eggs according to size, placing the large eggs in one case and the small ones in another.

To get fertile eggs for early hatching, the fowls must be healthy, and green feed helps to keep them in condition.

Do not wash dirty eggs and send them to market, for different forms of mold may result from packing the eggs dry.

Some Rooms Achieve Distinction---Others Are Just Rooms.

RESTFULNESS and Dignity are secured by using soft tinted, velvety walls as backgrounds for your furnishings. Bear in mind that the walls are the setting for the picture.

Select your paper with care. Neutral colors and shades used upon the walls enable the furniture, rugs and hangings to express their personality, and the furnished room gives a sense of restfulness and well-being that should be the keynote of every home. Our decorators will assist you in every way.

MAY DUMP

SURPLUS BOOZE IN RIVER.

Louisville Sees This Possibility for Next January—Saloon Men Take Bets Against Drouth This Summer.

LOUISVILLE.—Here's a piece of news that should make the booze market slump:

Fifteen or twenty million gallons of Kentucky Bourbon may be dumped into the river Jan. 15, next.

This is the estimated surplus stock that will be on hand when national prohibition becomes effective on that date. After that time nothing can be done with the "booze" except pitch it into the river. It will be unlawful to sell it, trade it or give it away. Likewise it will be unlawful to have big stocks in one's possession. Therefore whiskey dealers and distillers have visions of seeing aged Bourbon being borne down on the surface of the Ohio river.

Stocks on hand will be even larger than this, it is estimated, should the city go "dry" July 1. The fifteen million gallon estimate is based on average sales for every week day between now and January 16.

By the way, what are your odds on the city going "dry" this summer?

Do a little better than even money and you will probably have no trouble in getting "takers" among the more sportively inclined saloon proprietors.

Hats and Suits of clothing are the chief figures in the "early betting". Many saloonkeepers are wagering articles of apparel on Louisville being wet during the summer and fall.

"Betting so far is slow" said one saloon proprietor, "but a little later it should pick up considerably. Nearly all saloon men are confident we'll not have to close until the first of the year. The Derby right now is taking up all the time and attention of those who like betting. When this event is out of the way, you'll probably hear of some interesting wagers on the situation."

Confidence is based on several ins and outs of the law. The new York test suit, in which Kentucky brewers are keenly interested, is expected to go in favor of the beer interest. Again the peace treaty, it is expected, will be signed in April. Upon signature, it is claimed, the President's war-time prohibition decree will be automatically nullified. Therefore, July 1st will lose its terror.

Saloon men," said one whiskey dealer, "are counting on at least a few months' sales between July 1st and Jan. 16. For instance, should the peace pact be signed in April they will abide strictly by its provisions, which are that 'booze' must not be sold for the next four months, during which demobilization will be effected. However, the four months will count from April, and not from July; likewise, the law is not effective until July; therefore, if the treaty is signed April 20 the four months will expire August 20. Saloons would be closed, therefore, from July 1 until August 20. On the 21st their proprietors will insist on their right of reopening and selling until Jan. 16."

A Sewer Went Forth to Sew.

Said the facetious teller, "When a man tries to sew a button on a coat he generally makes it appear as if he were sewing the coat on the button."

He Understood.

Mrs. Henpeck—"She's very pretty but she hardly says a word. I can't understand why so many men propose to her." Mr. Henpeck—"I can."—London Answers.

Shark-Feed.

In Bermuda small ground sharks are used for food and much appreciated by all classes. The fish average from eight to ten pounds and sell for 12 cents each. In Honolulu the hammerhead shark is frequently seen in the markets and its flesh is considered very nourishing and is extensively salted.

The Predicament.

Teddy had the usual nine o'clock sickness and did not have to go to school as a result. But at ten o'clock he found that he had recovered, and after dressing sought his mother in the kitchen. "I'm well, mother," he announced, "but I can't go to school till noon. You see it's too late now just to be counted tardy and too early to be counted absent."

Mischievousness of Youth.

A young wife put down her book with a sigh. "What is it, darling?" her husband asked. "Ah, dearest, I am so happy!" she replied. "Yes, but you had such a sad look in your eyes just now." "I know, I've been reading about the unhappiness that the wives of men of genius have always had to bear. Oh, Alfred, dear, I'm so glad you're just an ordinary sort of fellow!"

Important Notice

Hon. John M. Duncan, Mayor, The City Council, and General Public of Lancaster, Ky., and Garrard County will take notice:—

That the Bastin Telephone Company will discontinue telephone service to the public in Lancaster, Ky., and proposes to and will remove its poles and wires and all telephone equipment from the public streets, highways, and alleys in Lancaster. This will be done when reasonable and legal notice has been given the city and public of Lancaster, Kentucky.

Why is the Bastin Telephone Company forced to quit business in Lancaster? Because the Company loses money every month that it carries on business in Lancaster. It has no franchise to do business in this city and the rates it is allowed to charge under the present arrangement yields an insufficient income required to meet the expenses of the Company. Labor and materials required to conduct a telephone business are very high and the telephone rates which it is permitted to charge are lower than any other Telephone Company in the state operating under similar conditions. The annual loss to the Company in its Lancaster business is very large and will eventually bankrupt, not only the Company, but the owners of the stock who have constantly contributed from outside sources to the business under the hope that some steps would be taken by the public to give the Company a relief. Being thus far disappointed it finds no course save to discontinue business. To dismantle this plant which has been built at a large cost will entail upon the owners of the enterprise a cruel loss. However, something can be saved by disposing of the wreckage at this time while material is high and in demand.

The management states frankly to the public that this conclusion is forced on the Company to the deep regret of its owners and management. Every step that ingenuity could suggest to the officers of the Company have been tried out already, without any accomplishment. Its most recent plan tried was to rebuild the lines, overhaul the system throughout, change the management, all to give the best service possible to the public and after this an appeal was made to the city officials for relief, and its petition being ignored, the Company has no other course but to quit business. It publishes this frank statement with the brief explanation herein as legal notice to the City of Lancaster, Ky., and the general public.

This April third, 1919.

Yes, They Reached Paris

A Yank smiles over a few of the German helmets on the steps of the Treasury Building at Washington.

AT CURRENT market prices the helmets shown in the above pictures must be worth some small fraction of a mill.

If you wish to figure it out for yourself here are the statistics: Eighty-five thousand of the patent leather covered headgears sold recently for one dollar. The Treasury Department bought them from the War Department.

The helmets were found by the Yanks who occupied Coblenz after the signing of the armistice. They will be awarded as prizes for the best Victory Loan salesmen and saleswomen in the drive which is to begin April 21, and to school children over the country who write the best Victory Loan essays.

Dressy they are in the extreme. The Huns had been saving them to wear on that often-postponed grand entry into Paris. The helmets had their grand entry if the Huns didn't. It wasn't as grand as might be, at that—they came into Paris in American box cars and went right through to the seaboard without ever getting so much as a passing glance from the Parisians.

To Clean a Ceiling.
To clean a blackened ceiling, apply a coating of starch and water to the part that has been discolored by the gas with a piece of clean flannel. Let it dry, then brush lightly off with a brush, and no marks will remain.

Costa Rica Rich in Fruit.
Costa Rica has all the raw material that is necessary, except that for containers, to develop a profitable business in canned fruits and vegetables. The list of native and cultivated fruits is long and contains many which would be in demand if the way is found to preserve the flavor.

Oil From Fruit Stones.
Salad oil is now being made from the kernels of peach, plum, apricot, and cherry stones. The kernels are first separated from the shells by a solution of calcium chloride of magnesium chloride, then washed, dried, and placed under pressure. The bitter taste or odor is removed by aeration or heating.

How the Cricket Sings.
The wings of a cricket are folded horizontally and form when closed slender, thread-like tapering points beyond the wing covers. It is supposed to be by friction of the wing covers against each other and from a peculiarity of their structure, that the crickets produce the sound which makes these insects so well known.—Christian Herald.

Modern Greek Language.
The language spoken by the educated classes, that used in the newspapers and other modern literature of Greece, differs from the Koine used by the lower classes. The former is distinguished by a greater resemblance to the Greek of antiquity, which renders it easy for anyone who has a satisfactory acquaintance with ancient Greek to read the literary Greek of the present day.

First Time Reckoning.
Perhaps the first reference to attempts to reckon time by mechanical means is found in Isaiah xxxviii, 8, written supposedly about 713 B. C., "the sun dial of Ahaz." Pliny says that Anaximander invented a sun dial about 550 B. C. The first sun dial at Rome was placed in the temple of Quirinus, about 298 B. C., when time was divided into hours. The clepsydra, or water clock, was the next time recorder invented.

'Tis Not So.
A Chicago girl stole $2.00 from a tradesman two years ago. Recently she returned the $2.00 with $200 as interest. Yet there are those who persist in believing, and declaring, that a woman has no conscience.—Grit.

Who Founded Jerusalem?
Origin and early history are obscure. It was identified by Josephus with Salem, a city whose king some thirty five centuries ago was Melchisedech, a Chaldean. The city did not pass completely to possession of the Jews until the time of David.

Be Different.
Try to find a better reason for your acts than "everybody does it." There are follies in dress, absurdities in customs, that are defended on this ground alone. The girl who thinks it is proper to dress immodestly because her next-door neighbor does, has a curious code of propriety. Custom does not make a thing right or sensible.—Grit.

Needles Long in Use.
Steel needles were found among the Kaffirs in Africa, and elsewhere, so that they may have had early aboriginal invention in more than one country. The earliest European eyed needles were of bone and ivory, sometimes of bronze. In 1370 steel needles were certainly being made in Nuremberg, possibly in England also, though until 1503 the raw material came from Spain.

Staving Off Old Age.
Among many other extraordinary plans for prolonging one's stay on this interesting planet may be mentioned that of a South African farmer who advised people to eat every day four pounds of bananas steeped in sweetened whisky, and that of a professor at the University of Pennsylvania who believed that much could be done in the way of staving off old age by frequently having one's feet tickled!

Showed Greatness in Youth:
At the age of 14, and when a sophomore at Cambridge, Francis Bacon left the university in disgust, declaring that the whole system of education was radically wrong at Cambridge and everywhere else. And Bacon lived to prove that he was conservatively right in his contention. Swift despised his teachers because he knew more than they did, and therefore had difficulty in securing a degree.

THE MOST DANGEROUS DISEASE

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pain in the back—wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

SOLDIERS GIVEN PREFERENCE IN RECONSTRUCTION WORK

Dr. W. B. Beauchamp, Director General of Missionary Centenary, Says Methodist Church Will Use Soldiers in Rebuilding Program.

"Our first duty is to give the returning soldier a job," declared Dr. W. B. Beauchamp, Director-General of the Centenary Campaign of the M. E. Church, South, to a group of newspaper representatives. "The boys coming back will not be nearly so thrilled over flag-waving and shouts from the sidewalk as they will be to feel the grasp of a friendly hand and the words, 'We've got a job waiting for you, old fellow!' All over the country men are using their best wits and energies to find places for the boys who were willing to face death when the need came.

"The Methodist Church can do its part in giving work to the boys who are coming back, and we are going to do that part to the best of our ability. From May 18 to 25 we will conduct a Drive for $115,000,000, of which our own church, the M. E. Church, South, will be responsible for $35,000,000. The success of this campaign will mean the immediate erection of churches and schools and the opening of 'jobs' of all kinds.

"Many of the returning boys may not be adjusted to the after-the-war conditions and therefore, will not, for a time, be able to get started in their trades. We will keep in constant touch with these conditions through our pastors and conference workers and will consider it a privilege to see to it that these men are given work. We will need bricklayers, carpenters, architects, business and professional assistance, and, where a boy has caught the vision of larger service—missionaries—we will need all of this help, and we will see to it that the soldier is given the chance at the job first."
